ALADDIN LANDS WITH LAMP AND OH! MY! SHANGHAI

Baggage "Smasher" Rubs His Trusty Pen On Cheque Book With Results

THEN COMES AFTERMATH

Court Will Convince Him Of Futility Of Romantic Methods Here

Had O. Henry or the author of the Arabian nights written this adventure, it might never have happened in Shanghai. Forwarned is forearmed but outstanding incidents of the extraordinary career of Charles Howard Johnson in the brief space of the few days after his arrival as a baggage master on the steamer Monteagle since when he has used a check book without restraint or cash in bank, read like an Aladdin yarn when described yesterday in the British Police Court before police Magistrate G. W. King.

As an outcome of the hearing Johnson was found guilty of having obtained money and goods by false pretenses and sentence in his case will be pronounced by the court this morning. His "cheques" were too new and it is only the old and well tried lamp that one canrub without penalty.

Precisely where Johnson lived while his adventures were in progress was not made plain at the hearing, for it was found that he had given a number of addresses, one at the Astor House and others in Quinsan Gardens. The testimony indicated, in fact, that he had no fixed place of abode as the trail of worthless checks led through various lodging houses and hotels into one of the establishments of Kiangse Road where the accused spent a day and a night leaving behind a check for $260, but to show that his taste did not concern itself with nationality, he was found to have been entertained in Japanese quarters in Yalu Road where he had been obliged to leave behind a kimono valued at $75 to cover an account of $20.

In one of the celebrated Billy Baxter letters the author of those epistles tells the effect putting on a new suit of clothes has upon some people. Seemingly Johnson's adventures began when he donned a new pongee silk suit in the shop of a Chinese tailor on Broadway. He had instructed the tailor to come to room 83 at the Astor House to collect the $30 and the tailor explained to the Court that he went to Room 83, several times.

At one point in his wanderings Johnson evidently had the idea of going in for sports, for, according to Nippon Doo, a salesman in a Bubbling Well Road Japanese store, Johnson called there and purchased a tennis racquet. He offered a check for $9 in payment and when this was refused told the shopkeeper to call at an address in Quinsan Gardens for the money and the shopkeeper called at the address, but vainly.

At the Yamamoto store in Woosung Road Johnson selected a walking stick, a half dozen collars and a quantity of perfume, all valued at $8.40, according to a witness. He only troubled to take the walking stick and one of the collars, which he put on in the shop, telling the shopkeeper to send the other things to another elusive address and paying the bill with a check.

Another Japanese from a store on Bubbling Well Road described the purchase of a kimono by Johnson for $75, for which a check was accepted.

Detective Sergeant Conduit supplied a number of details concerning Johnson's movements and told of the recovery of a quantity of the things he had purchased.

Johnson told the Court with all earnestness that he had not desired to defraud anybody. He was penniless and, having failing to meet certain persons he expected to find in Shanghai, he was friendless. He declared he felt that he had to live while searching for employment and said he had adopted the system buying all kinds of things in all kinds of places to establish a kind of credit through which he could get board and lodging.

Johnson intimated that he expected shortly to receive money from a sister in England and said he intended to pay up all charges against him when this money came. Sister always sent him money, he said.

The Court, not visibly impressed with the explanation, referred to the single check for $250 that

MARCH OF EVENTS

BY BRUCE HOPPER

WHY not utilise the world craze for tennis as a medium for settling international disputes?

Treaties written on beautiful parchment become scraps of paper in a crisis, and alliances prove effective only until one of both of the parties find it expedient to discard them. In the good old days of imagination, when chivalry was in blossom, and before opposing nationals were more conservative of human life, they entrusted their fortunes in a dispute to the prowess of single champions.

The Davis cup competition goes to the challenge round with Japan and America glowering at each other across the net. How intensely interesting the championship match would be were Yap at stake in the play. It is suggested that results thus attained would probably be as acceptable to the nationals concerned as the intricate fine-comb decisions of diplomats at the Washington conference.

Goliath Tilden, a tower of Philistine pride, would smite the ball with a demoinical cut, and agile David Shimidzu would run for Yap as well as the ball. Hector Kumagae would discover the heel of Achilles Johnson, and close by the map of Shantung as a permanent playground for his friends at home.

Such wager of tennis would be much less expensive than war, and more sensible. Besides it might give an impetus to the racket game, which now occupies only four-fifths of the ordinary conversation.

DESPITE protests from certain sources the United States treasury has paid the British Ministry of Shipping the thirty-two million dollars claimed for transportation of American troops to the war. Inasmuch as Britain's debt to America amounts to four and one half billions of dollars, for which she, like other allies, has been granted suspended payment, it would seem that Uncle Sam applies an easy-going disposition toward banking. At any rate he was used rather ill by those who called him grasping when he attempted to supply the allies' war needs.

America's material plums of victory consisted mostly of a few obsolete German war vessels, which gave the air bombers excellent target practice. But there were many bills for sundries, and yet more bills rescued from the files, bills which would have been outlawed in commerce because of delay in presentation.

In the liquidation of American war material in France it was discovered that the detachments of doughboys, hurried into the gaps to help stem the German advance in the spring of '18, had been carefully counted, and were itemised in the bill for motor transport. Bits of sample linen, tiny pieces of strut, photographs of machines in flight, which were sent to Washington in 1917 to induce the government to buy aeroplanes, all reappeared for mention in the reckoning with various nations.

THE American Red Cross continues to mother the bankrupt and needy people of Europe and the Near East, regardless of nationality or religion, or affiliations in the great war. One mission has been sent to the famine areas of Russia, and another is planned for Siberia, from which relief work bills will be coming in for years to come.

One of the erroneous beliefs carried back by the doughboys was that Uncle Sam had to pay rent for the trenches they occupied with such transports of delight. This has been denied by treasury officials. But it is believed that if bills were sent to Washington for the cables which invited America to enter the war the sentimental old uncle would pay them, rather than be called bad names. It is the penalty for seeking popularity.

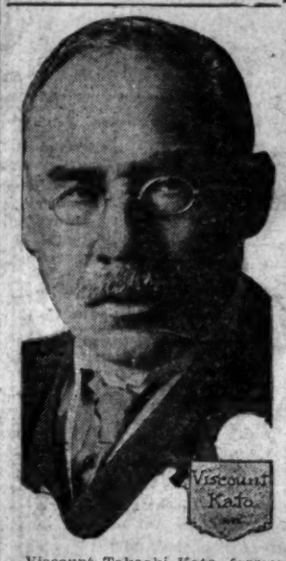
ONE faint streak of the silver lining to the European cloud has made its appearance in the France and Germany regarding the form of an agreement between rehabilitation of the devastated regions. For the first time since 1871 a French minister has had private conversation with a German minister concerning common interests. M. Loucheur and Dr. Rathenau not only met, but actually decided upon the proper means for German collaboration in the reconstruction of northern France, the delivery of livestock to the peasants, and a badly needed industrial cooperation. The rapprochement seems to be significant and timely, considering the Silesian deadlock. It probably will lessen the passionate intensity of hatred and revenge with which both countries are imbued. The success of the meeting should prove that common sense is the restorative by which they can recover pre-war prosperity.

'Should Have Learned American Idea As To Yap Islands'



Viscount Takaaki Kato, former Japanese Minister of Foreign of Affairs, in a speech before the members of the Opposition Party at Osaka, Japan, blamed the Japanese Government for developments arising over the mandate of the Island of Yap. He called the affair the "Yap muddle," and said the Government should have obtained the American viewpoint at Paris before final decision had been reached by the Supreme Court.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 29.—The protracted dispute between the United States and Japan in regard to the mandate given to the latter by the League of Nations over the island of Yap, to which the United States objected, has now been settled, according to the Morning Post's Washington correspondent who learns that the United States has accepted the Japanese offer to concede the cable facilities and their control instead of agreeing to the proposed internationalisation of the Island.

Colleagues Protest Against Dismissal Of Ship Compradore

General dissatisfaction has been expressed by a section of the staff of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., over the dismissal of Mr. Sun Tih-chao, compradore of steamer Kiang Hsin, who contributed valuable service, according to shareholders to the company's reorganisation in 1911 when Japanese capitalists threatened to control the institution.

Mr. Sun was dismissed few days ago as the result of the squabble among directors of company at the last annual meeting held at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce when the session ended in a near riot over the election of new directors. Mr. Sun represented a section of the big holdings of the late Sheng Kung Pao family.

Many law suits ensued in the various local courts in which several lakhs were involved. Now all the plaintiffs have withdrawn their claims, Sun has been removed from office. A section of the former colleagues of Sun is said to be taking some action for his re-instalment.

HUGE SUM TO BE PAID FOR REPARATIONS BY GERMANY

17 Billion Dollars To Do Reconstruction Work In France

TO BE RETURNED

Seven Annual Payments To Reimburse Says Wiesbaden Pact

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 29.—A provisional agreement has been reached regarding Franco-German reparations as the result of the conference at Wiesbaden between M. Loucheur, French Minister for the Liberated Regions, and Dr. Walther Rathenau, German Minister of Reconstruction. Germany undertakes, by this agreement, to make by May 1, 1926, payments in kind for the restoration of the devastated areas totaling £350,000,000. France will repay Germany annually a sum not exceeding £50,000,000.

The residue to be repaid if the deliveries exceed £50,000,000 will be payable annually until May 1, 1935 at 5 percent simple interest. The purpose of the scheme is to speed up the reconstruction of the devastated areas

REPARATIONS IN KIND IS TOPIC AT WIESBADEN

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 27.—The conversations begun yesterday at Wiesbaden between M. Loucheur, French Minister for the Liberated Regions, and Herr Walter Rathenau, German Minister of Reconstruction, were continued today. The Paris evening papers understand that the pourparlers will end tonight.

Pari passu with the conversations between the two Ministers, the experts are discussing the details of the proposed agreement.

The principal subject of the negotiations is the question of reparations in kind. Under the agreement of London, France is to receive every year fifty-two percent of the amounts paid by Germany, in kind or in specie, in order to satisfy her urgent needs.

It was expected that Germany would at the outset make heavier deliveries in kind against deferred payments, France repaying the amounts due, plus interest at five percent, but some opposition has arisen in Germany on this point notably in connection with the stipulated rate of interest, and this forms not the least of the difficulties that the Ministers have to solve.

The Temps remarks that the German delegation yesterday gave the impression that they did not know exactly what they wanted. The political situation in Germany, the Temps points out, is far from clear and this is strongly reflected in the attitude of the German delegation. Moreover the Germans appear deeply impressed by the persistently low exchange level of the mark and Herr Rathenau has several times referred to the question of exchange.

After this morning's meeting, M. Loucheur declared that agreement had been reached on the draft convention providing for German collaboration in the reconstruction of the devastated regions, likewise on the constitution in Germany of a private company for the delivery of material and on the classification by groups of French war sufferers with a view to the various orders to be given for reconstruction work.

Agreement had also been reached, the Minister said, on the supplementary protocol outlining a standard convention for regulating the relations of both forms of organisation. There remain to be examined the supplementary protocols covering industrial reconstruction and the restitution of livestock.

Agreement has practically been reached on the matter of rolling stock, but the fixing of the price of coal is still under discussion.

WANT NO ORIENTALS

(Reuter's Service)

Toronto, August 29.—The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress has passed a resolution in favor of the permanent exclusion of all Oriental immigrants.

Tough Life On Rhine Soon May End For American Army

VERBOTEN in the United States, but not in Germany, Soldiers of the American Army of Occupation quenching their thirst with real lager in a beer garden in Coblenz. ISHII HEADS LEAGUE TILL SILESIA GETS SETTLEMENT

Reason Is Dislike Of Having Two From Orient Act

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 29.—Advices from Geneva state that inasmuch as the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations is a special one called to discuss the Upper Silesian question, Viscount Ishii will remain in Geneva until the matter is disposed of, after which Dr. Wellington Koo will preside. The reason is stated to be the desire to avoid having two Oriental statesmen as chairman and reporter upon a purely European matter.

POLISH VIEW MODERATE

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Aug. 27.—A good number of the members of the Council of the League of Nations are already at Geneva or near-by. Viscount Ishii is busy putting the final touches to his report on the Upper Silesia question. M. Hymans has called for today a meeting of the delegates of Poland and Lithuania with a view to seeking a fresh basis of negotiations. M. Leon Bourgeois, who is near Evian, is leaving for Geneva tomorrow. Mr. Balfour is finishing his cure at St. Gervais.

The first meeting of the Council of the League will take place at the League's headquarters on Monday at 10 a.m. So far no information is available at the Secretariat of the League as to who will represent Germany, if, as is probable, she is called upon to set forth her thesis on the Upper Silesia question.

In this connection, the Geneva correspondent of the Agence Havas understands that Poland will not insist on her full rights under the text of the Covenant. She has full confidence in the Council, the correspondent states, and will be satisfied with explaining her standpoint, just as the other side will do.

M. Rene Viviani, who was to have taken part in the labors of the League Amendments Commission and to have presided over the meeting of the Disarmament Commission on September 1, has requested M. Noblemaire to act for him. The French ex-Premier will however attend the opening of the League Assembly on September 5.

MAY HEAR POLES AND GERMANS ON SILESIAN MIXUP

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, August 28.—The Council of the League of Nations is meeting tomorrow to consider the Upper Silesian situation. A favorable fact is that the members are all new men, who have hitherto not been involved in this subject, and they are meeting with the sincere desire to reach an understanding in a spirit of conciliation. First of all, Viscount Ishii, the Acting President of the Council, will report upon the situation, and it is expected that the Germans and Poles will be asked to submit their own cases.

Takes Only One Tailor To Make A Woman Mad

By Elsie McCormick

MARK Twain stated once that this earth is an insane asylum for the other planets. Certain Eastern religious cults say that it is a purgatory where those who sinned in some dim blue world of space are sent to expiate their past. We incline to the latter belief, for otherwise we cannot quite account for the existence of the mosquito, the Gila monster, the man who is learning to play the cornet, the Imagist poet who compares the rising sun to an egg in the frying pan of the sky, and Chinese tailors.

Especially Chinese tailors. When the lady brings a length of the amah parked a flatiron on her best gown while exchanging reminiscences with the coolie about the old home in Ningpo, that she cleaned another gown with linseed oil under the impression that it was Carbona, and that she had chosen a militant typhoon as the occasion for airing a strictly non-washable pussy-willow taffeta, the previously mentioned griffin becomes a bit concerned about the clothes problem.

After visiting a few shops and assuring the saleslaadies who mentioned prices that she wanted to buy a dress and not the store, she is usually led to one side by an older resident who tells her the most popular fairy-tale in the Far East next to Little Red Riding Hood.

"Why don't you go to a Chinese tailor?" inquires the O. R. "All you have to do is show him a picture in a fashion magazine and he'll copy it right off."

With the same naive credulity which she showed in earlier years when somebody told her that angels pushed the clouds around, or that rain was caused by washday in heaven, the griffin accepts the tale of the O. R. and begins to expiate a few more sins committed on Neptune of somewhere.

There must be something in the bylaws of the Chinese Garment Misfitters' Association that prohibits a tailor from appearing on the scene until he has broken two appointments. The tailor who called the first time he promised would probably lose his social standing in the guild and be fined for wearing a georgette crepe, purloined from his last afternoon gown.

When he does make his debut at last, he always arrives when company is being entertained at tea or when his victim has just fifteen minutes in which to meet a steamer.

SOME "HERO" THIS

With the weapons of his trade wrapped up in a bed-sheet, the hero of "lady neck-muff, skinclothes, fine sew and embroiderie can do fashion or otherwise" gives the catalogue illustration a bored glance. He then whisks out a perfectly plain tape-measure, whirls it around a few minutes like a lariat, whisks it back again, puts the material in the bed-sheet, murmurs "Al' light. Come Tuesday," and vanishes kitchenward to collect some family tobacco from the houseboy.

We don't know just what the tape-measure has to do with the proceeding. He never notes down any figures from it, and the subsequent garment certain-

Moplahs Massacre Hindus And Gather Weighty Loot

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 28.—The situation in Southern India is complicated by a dramatic demand for Home Rule, and the extension of the disaffected area by large numbers of Moplahs invading Kurambranad.

Martial law has now been proclaimed in the Walavanad, Ponnani, Ernad, Calicut, Kurambranad and Wynaat districts. It is reported that there are 15,000 rioters in one center alone.

The whole of the affected area is now threatened with famine owing to the disorganisation of business and the breakdown in communications, while widespread murders, robbery, violence and looting on a large scale are taking place against the Hindu population.

Indian troops are proceeding from Cannanore to the districts north of Calicut. The losses, up to date, include several Europeans, and many Hindus massacred; and 20 soldiers of the Leinster regiment and 17 native police missing, whilst, among the rebels, the killed number 700.

Rs. 600,000 IN LOOT

Calicut, August 27.—The Moplahs today looted the Treasury at Ernad and secured 600,000 rupees. The looters also liberated the prisoners from gaol, forcing two prisoners and a warder to adopt Mohammedanism. They then attacked a motor-bus and killed two passengers.

MOW DOWN MOPLAHS

Madras, Aug. 27.—The Malabar district has been proclaimed a military area. Magistrate Batty, with a force, went to Pattambi on August 22 from Palghat. Leaving the train he proceeded on foot to meet the crowd of advancing Moplahs.

Mr. Batty warned the crowd that anyone found on the railway was liable to be shot, but the crowd rushed on, whereupon the order was given to fire with Lewis guns. The casualties which resulted are not known, but they must have been heavy.

The force returned to Shoranur being replaced by cavalry from Bangalore.

Later in the evening news arrived that a gang of Moplahs was marching on Cotaparam with a view to attacking the sub-Magistrature and Treasury. Mr. Batty with a captain and thirty Dorsets and two machine-guns reached Cotaparam in time and patrolled the town.

The police station at Cherapalchery was attacked yesterday and all the records burnt. The sub-Treasury at Periatalamanna was looted and 8,000 rupees stolen, while the Munsif's court and all the records were destroyed. Consternation prevails, though the public has hitherto not been molested.

YOCHOW NOW OCCUPIED AS INSURGENTS EVACUATE IT

Hunanese Assert They Retire To New And Better Position

SOUTH CLOSES IN

Kwantung's Crack Gen'l. And Szechuen Force Menace Wu Pei-fu

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, August 28.—It is reliably reported that the Southern forces are in full retreat from Yochow. Before evacuating that place they burned a quantity of railway material, but they left behind them a quantity of rice and military supplies.

They claim that they have not been defeated, and that their retirement is merely a strategic movement, but they are known to be without ammunition, and it is thought that they are retreating upon Linchang, on the Kiangsi border, for the purpose of joining up with the Southern forces which are assembling there.

Traffic on the Canton-Hankow Railway has been restored as far as Puchi.

The Chinese officials at Changsha are all leaving, and foreign ladies staying at summer resorts are recommended not to return to Changsha for the present.

The civil magistrate at Yochengchien has been murdered by looters, and the civil magistrate at Hwangchow has bolted. The latter district is completely in the hands of the bandits and leaderless soldiers.

Hankow remains unperturbed by the course of events. The military authorities are recruiting the local riff-raff.

CHEN IS ON WAY

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

August 27 (7:20 p.m.).—General Tsao Kun, Tuchun of Chihli, has telegraphically instructed General Wu Pei-fu to continue fighting with the Hunanese until Yochow is taken. It is understood that Tsao in turn has been instructed by the Cabinet to do so.

Kwangsi troops under Brigadier-General Shen Hun-yin, who put up a stiff fight for the Kwangsi cause against Chen Chiungming, the Kwangtung leader, is on his way to Changsha by way of Hengchow. General Chao Hengti, the Hunan commander-in-chief, has extended him an enthusiastic reception.

The Szechuen expeditionary forces against Hupeh have arrived in Ichang under the command of General Tan Mao-hsi. Despite the mutiny, Kwangshui was not looted while the train between Chikungsha and Hankow is running as usual.

In reply to the protest of the Hankow Consular Body, General Wu Pei-fu undertook to guarantee absolutely the safety and protection of the foreigners in his districts.

The British gunboats Gnat, Woodcock and Magnolia and the steamers Anlan and Changwo were fired upon by Southern troops near Lungkow on Wednesday at daybreak. The attackers were dispersed with casualties, but the boats were not damaged.

The cause of the attack on the boats was that Wu Pei-fu had once made his way up river on board a Chinese gunboat which was escorted by a Japanese gunboat.

NO CHANGE OF FRONT

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Aug. 26.—There has been practically no improvement on their side in the struggle between Wu Pei-fu and the Lianghu insurgents. Fighting has been in progress for three days, but up to the time of writing there is no great change of positions on the opposing fronts.

Tuesday's fighting was in favor of the Hunan trooos who drove Wu Pei-fu's men back behind Tingshihchiao, a key strategical point on the Changsha railway line in Hupeh. Wu Pei-fu and his men, angry at this defeat, made desperate onslaughts on the insurgent troops and Wednesday morning Wu succeeded in retaking Tingshihchiao from the insurgents under command of Sung Ho-kun and Lo Ti-ping.

Owing to an attack on Wu Pei-fu's troops by Hunanese from the side, the front line at Tingshihchow has been gradually extended over another twenty li. Insurgent troops also got hold of Chunghopu day before yesterday.

but Wu is reported to have taken it back today. Puchi is now occupied by Hunan troops, and Wu Pei-fu is directing his forces against that place.

Fighting near Yochow at Chinglingchi is not confirmed, and it is reported that Chinglingchi, which was formerly reported as having been captured by Wu Pei-fu, is still in the hands of Hunan. Wu Pei-fu's forces, mostly naval, center at Pehlochi. Fighting there is expected to be resumed today, but no report of any attack by either side is yet to hand.

WORK FOR PEACE

Hankow, August 26.—The Lianghu Armistice Association has been formed in Hankow by local leading gentry in co-operation with merchants and residents of Hankow with Mr. Chow Yun-tsai, Vice-Chairman of the Hankow Associated Street Unions Association, as Chairman of the Temporary Committee.

An initial meeting was held this week at the Hankow Tea Guild where about seventy promoters met to discuss their plans of conducting a peace mission to Tientsin and Peking. A little ahead of the announced time for meeting, the local police chief came in, and presented to the promoters an official proclamation from the High Inspecting Commissioner of Hupeh and Hunan, in which Wu Pei-fu states, "before the settlement of the Lianghu conflict no public meeting will be allowed." After some unpleasant mediation, the meeting was held.

Appeals were made to Li Yuan-hung and other notables of Hupeh and Hunan now in retirement at Tientsin and Peking. Li Yuan-hung, former President of China and a native of Hupeh, telegraphed to Wu Pei-fu twice on the subject, but Wu Pei-fu did not give him a word in reply.

This attitude of Wu Pei-fu, coupled with his demands for money, is exposing the once much respected general to public indignation.

MERCHANTS LEAVE FIELD

Boats from up river are bringing to Shanghai from Ichang, Shasi, Hsiangtan and other ports many Chinese business men who have abandoned their fields temporarily on account of the trade stagnation caused by the fighting. The China Merchants' steamer Kiangfoo and the Butterfield and Swire steamer Lienyih arrived with heavy passenger lists over the week-end.

PEKING PLANNING SELF-GOV. CONFAB

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, August 23.—The Central Government has decided to take the lead in the self government program to the extent of proposing a national convention in order to have the discussions in the provinces follow similar lines.

Looking to the calling of such a convention, the Government has sent a letter to all the provinces asking their opinions as to the most logical procedure. The government is willing to have provincial autonomy established and believes that it should be established in all the provinces at the same time.

By calling a national convention, uniformity in action might be obtained. The convention would not necessarily, it is said, propose that the provinces adopt a standard constitution but would outline a program to be followed in a general way. The delegates could decide what powers were to be retained by the Central Government and what duties and powers should be taken over by the provinces.

No replies have yet been received from the letters sent out and if there is not a general and early response the Government may suggest a tentative program in order to get the matter discussed. This would go out under a Presidential mandate and a convention might be called later.

This plan apparently has the approval of General Wu Pei-fu for in his reply to the merchants of Hunan who requested him to bring the war to a close and indicated that they suspected his motives, he said that he would end his part of the fighting when Hunan was ready to consider a sane self-government program.

General Wu said that Hunan should agree to co-operate with the other provinces and with the Central Government in working out such a program rather than adopting a constitution without consulting the others. If each province established a government without a preliminary general conference, China would be worse off than before, he said.

Many of the provinces may be slow in responding to the Government's suggestion because of the failure of the Self-government Conference last spring.

At that time however the plan had not gained such wide popularity and it did not have the support of the Central Government. The Conference was in Peking but the Government made so many reservations that little resulted from the debates.

Now that the Government is willing to release more rights to the provinces, some progress may be made.

Johnson had given in a Kiangse Road establishment.

"Is that for eating and sleeping?" the Court questioned.

"Yes."

"How long were you at the house?"

"One day."

"And you gave a check for $250 for eating and sleeping for one day?"

Johnson didn't wholly surrender at the question. "It's absurd on the face of it," he said, "and they knew it at the time."

In reply to further questions Johnson admitted he could produce no evidence showing that he would receive money from England.

At the conclusion of the hearing Magistrate King said he had no hesitation in saying that the accused was guilty, adding that Johnson apparently had a very excellent record before coming to Shanghai. He announced that sentence would be pronounced today.

J. D. Rockfeller Jr. Denies Financial Or Political Aims

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 29.—Mr. John D. Rockfeller, Jr. and a party of twenty other distinguished members of the medical world arrived at Yokohama this morning on the Empress of Asia and are leaving tomorrow morning for Peking to attend the opening of the Peking Union Medical College.

In an interview with Reuter's representative, Mr. Rockfeller said that this was his first visit to the Orient and had no political or financial significance. His only desire was, he said, to assist the general peace and welfare of the world.

Mr. Rockfeller is accompanied by his wife and daughter and a number of intimate friends.

Mr. F. W. Stevens, the American representative on the Consortium, is also a passenger on the Empress and will proceed to Peking in a few days. He declined to express any opinion before his arrival in Peking.

9 LOCAL BODIES FORM UNION FOR PACIFIC PARLEY

Institution Inaugurated To Protect China's Right At Conference

The Pacific Conference Union, consisting of delegates from nine of the most influential bodies in Shanghai, was inaugurated at a meeting yesterday when a constitution, containing nine articles, was adopted after slight alterations.

The union aims to "protect the sovereign rights of China at the coming Pacific Conference." It consists of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, the Kiangsu Educational Association, the Chinese Bankers' Association, the Native Bankers' Guild, the Chinese Millowners' Association, the Western Returned Students Union, the Shanghai City Chamber of Commerce, the Shanghai City Educational Association and the Amalgamated Street Unions.

Each organisation is to send not more than five delegates to the union. The union appoints two honorary secretaries.

A declaration will be issued by the union today.

On the occasion of the first trial, the Celestial dressmaker shakes out the material and informs the customer that he "no has enough."

We venture to guess that from the day when they had the cornerstone ceremonies for the building of the first pagoda, no Chinese tailor ever had enough. After adding liberally to his supply, the client fondly expects as many scraps as there would be in the room of an American flag factory where they cut out the stars.

ONLY ONE SCRAP

But there never are any scraps, not one scrap, except the one precipitated by the customer when his suspicions are aroused. We have looked with interest for tailors' children, expecting them to be dressed in combinations of gold brocade, pink taffeta, and a few splashes of green georgette. But the few we have noted seem to be as conservatively arrayed as a lady about to address a missionary meeting. Our only remaining theory is that tailors' wives are passionately addicted to crazy quilts.

The explosion of the belief that there is no Santa Claus is as naught beside the disillusionment of the griffin when he sees the gown which the tailor copied from a picture. Sleeves suffering from a compound fracture, at the shoulder, gathers where no gathers belong, and snappers scattered with lavish hands make the customer think that she must have made a mistake and given him a drawing by a noted Cubist. Incidentally Chinese tailors like to sew on snappers almost as much as their chauffeur brothers enjoy toothing the Klaxon. This fact accounts for the long and weary waits suffered by escorts when they call for young ladies in Shanghai.

After inspection in the mirror, during which the tailor gathers up a handful of the dress in back so it will seem to fit smoothly over the shoulders, the customer sadly murmurs "can do" and hopes that the folks won't meet her in San Francisco before she has a chance to acquire some new clothes.

In due course she receives a bill for "Green Lady Dress Make, Jongee Klepe," and she pays it with her mind on the Biblical verse, "As they say, so must we rip."

We've been wondering what kind of tailors they have up on Mars.

MR. R. C. TREEMAN KILLED AT KULING; GOES OVER FALLS

Methodist Episcopal Mission Man Victim Of Torrent

News of the tragic death of Mr. R. C. Treeman, of the Methodist Episcopal Mission, Nanking, through his being swept over a waterfall at Kuling was received at the Mission Book Company's offices here yesterday.

Few details of the accident were given in the letter, which was from a Chinese member of the Mission, but it is gathered that Mr. Treeman lost his life when one of the sudden torrents which have been responsible for several other fatalities at Kuling swept down the stream. Mrs. J. H. Blackstone, Mr. Treeman's sister, also of Nanking, was caught in the rush of waters and narrowly escaped death, being rescued after a heroic struggle by her husband, who is well known here.

The party had been picnicing above the falls last Friday and had been in bathing when a thunderstorm broke. The rise of water in the stream was so precipitate that Mrs. Blackstone, who was standing beside the stream upon a rock, was carried away, her husband experiencing great difficulty in dragging her to the shore. There was no opportunity of rescue for Mr. Treeman.

Mr. Treeman was a young man, who came to China several years ago. He returned to America and came back to China with his bride about a year ago, since when he has been in charge of the Institutional Church at Nanking.

The accident was similar to that in which Miss Kunkle met her death last summer at Kuling. At the time the letter was written Mr. Treeman's body had not been recovered.

THE IDEAL DIET FOR SUMMER

How to retain energy and vitality on a light summer diet

OVOMALTINE

The loss of energy and fatigue experienced during the hot weather is simply the result of taking insufficient nourishment. A light summer diet does not supply in adequate quantities the nerve and body building elements which are necessary at all seasons.

Ovomaltine, taken with or between meals, abundantly supplies these essential materials, Proteid, Fat, Carbohydrates & Vitamines, and makes the lighter diet complete in summer, for it is delicious, easily prepared and assimilated, and does not heat the blood.

As you adjust your clothing to the season, so you must adjust your diet, if you wish to be healthy. Take Ovomaltine now, and you need have no fear to fall victim to dysentery or any other stomachial troubles.

Ovomaltine is sold at all Chemists & best Provision Stores. Sole Agents: Siber, Hegner & Co., Shanghai, 6-7 French Bund.

British Women's Ass'n To Open New Rooms Tuesday

The new headquarters of the British Women's Association will be open to members on Tuesday, September 6. They consist of four large rooms which with bath and service room, comprise the upper portion of No. 9 Kiukiang Road. While scarcely rivalling the fine apartments that formed the first home of the B.W.A.—for the generous loan of which members can never sufficiently thank the Manager of the Chartered Bank—the rooms in Kiukiang Road will be found quiet, bright, comfortable and, owing to their central position, exceedingly convenient.

While it should be borne in mind that the Association's headquarters are intended in no sense to provide for the amenities of club life, the rooms have been provisionally arranged as a tea-lounge, a reading-room and library, a committee room which will be available for sectional and other meetings, and a secretary's office.

Any detailed account of the activities of the various sections connected with the B.W.A. now entering on the second half of its first year, would, in view of their brief existence, be somewhat premature. Members, however, will be interested to hear that the four sections already formed appear to be in a very flourishing condition.

GARDENING SECTION

The first section to see the light of day was the Gardening Section which has completed a most useful session, bringing its spring program of lectures and practical demonstrations to a successful issue. Its meetings have been exceedingly well attended, as many as 80 or more out of a total of just under a hundred members being present at some of them. Careful notes of the lectures have been compiled and it is hoped that the Committee may see their way to publishing these as part of a much needed handbook on local gardening. And autumn program will be announced in due course and meanwhile the members of the section would like to record their great appreciation of those who have devoted so much time and thought to their interests and instruction.

LITERARY SECTION

The Literary Section with a membership of 123 started off in a most enterprising manner in May last with a couple of highly interesting papers contributed by its president and honorary secretary respectively, while before the summer exodus of its members took place a capital program was arranged for the autumn when meetings will be held regularly on alternating Tuesdays, the purpose being the study of famous contemporary British authors. The honorary secretary to the section may certainly be congratulated upon having tackled successfully the most difficult problem of obtaining definite promises from a number of ladies to contribute papers; their names taken in conjunction with some of the subjects certainly give promise of very interesting meetings.

The Literary Section too, has fulfilled one of the aspirations of those responsible for the inauguration of the B.W.A. in having arranged in May last an "at home" at which all members of the Association had the opportunity of meeting that highly distinguished lady, Miss E. E. Power, who is the first of her sex to hold the Otto Kahn Traveling Fellowship. Miss Power, who is Lecturer in History and Director of Studies at Girton College, is traveling round the world and as a result of her visit to India members of the B.W.A. were priviledged to hear her views on modern political conditions in that country. A sore point with many of—shall we say the quieter or more retiring-British women in Shanghai has long been that they seldom had any opportunity of meeting distinguished and interesting travelers coming to this port. The Literary Section hopes to arrange special meetings for the entertainment of such visitors passing through Shanghai and it is certainly to be hoped that other sections may follow suit.

THE SPORTS SECTION

Weather has treated the Sports Section of the B.W.A. very shabbily indeed and for six long weeks at the height of the season the tennis courts on the beautiful grounds so kindly lent by Mrs. E. C. Pearce were absolutely unusable. That bad time followed by the usual summer flitting left little opportunity for combined play, but arrangements are now being made for an American tournament with mixed doubles, ladies' doubles and ladies' singles, to begin about the middle of the month. The Autumn too will doubtless see a strong contingent prepared to take advantage of the excellent opportunity of becoming a first-class shot by means of the generous facilities offered by the secretary to the revolver Club and the honorary secretary of the section will be glad to furnish particulars in regard to this on application. Until one has settled down to regular practice in, say, the marksmen's class, few people have any idea of the fascination and potentialities of this sport. It may be assumed, in fact there are rumors, that the Sports Section have no intention of hibernating and that the possibilities of hockey and badminton will among other pastimes be considered for the winter months.

THE MUSICAL SECTION

The Musical Section with a membership of 69 held a combined music and business meeting at which 50 members were present in June last while a program of events to be carried out on six dates between now and Christmas has been arranged. The Committee may be congratulated on embodying study aspects with the merely enjoyable and there are few more delightful forms of lecture than that on the methods of some composer combined with musical illustration. It is hoped to form an orchestra in the Autumn and all those wishing to take part are asked to send in their names to the honorary secretary of the Section stating what instrument they play; in addition to this, if sufficient interest is shown in the idea, a glee party may be arranged. Apropos of this Section, is there any certificated member who would care to apply for the post of teacher of music in the British School at Kuling? To escape from the Shanghai climate and pursue such a vocation in so delightful an environment sounds eminently attractive.

A word in conclusion to express the profound regret that will be felt by every member at the news that Mrs. Everall, owing to her departure from Shanghai, is unable to carry on her work as honorary secretary to the B.W.A. Her charm, courtesy and capabilities—an alliterative but veracious description of her qualities—have played a lion's share in the prosperity of the Association. Only those who have held similar posts have any idea of the amount of work and sacrifice involved in occupying such a position. Mrs. Cromarty is to take Mrs. Everall's place in the Association and all members will join in wishing her the best of luck.

LEAD MINES ARE SOLDIERS' BOOTY

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Nanning, August 26.—The Cantonese Army has taken over the lead mines of Hoyien, which has a capital of $2,000,000. They have already sent some $700,000 worth of lead to Canton and propose to work the mines in an efficient way.

Devils Start Car On Plunge Into Cemetery Wall

At Least That's Theory Of Coolie Who Stepped On Clutch

A truck belonging to the China Express Co., 210 Boundary Road, was proceeding along Avenue Foch when the driver noticed that the tail light had gone out of action. Mindful of the view which the police take of such matters, he stopped the vehicle and leaving it in charge of one of the company's coolies, started hunting for a shop which retailed candles. Returning, successful, from his quest he found the machine with its nose rammed viciously into the wall surrounding Bubbling Well Cemetery.

A report having been made, the traffic department of the police was curious as to the circumstances surrounding the collision. The chauffeur brought the coolie into the office to explain. And the coolie shifted the blame to parties outside the jurisdiction of the Mixed Court.

He hadn't done a thing to the car, he said, beyond putting his foot on the clutch; and that surely wasn't sufficient to make it snort into action and try to climb the wall. He attributed the whole affair to devils. Particularly to one devil which had been bothering him for a long while and caused him trouble at frequent intervals. If the police could see their way clear to let the matter drop he would go out and arrange "plenty joss"—enough joss to placate even the most exacting of devils. The authorities agreed that this was the proper thing to do.

Labor Troubles To Be Solved By Making More Work

(Reuter's Service)

Tokio, August 24 (by mail).—The Osaka Industrial Association has sent to the Home Department the following written representation in view of the frequency of labor trouble in this country:

"The frequent occurrence of labor trouble in this country is largely due to the depressed condition of industry. Unless the situation is improved, the inevitable consequence would be the multiplication of labor trouble and the aggravation of a situation which is already threatened by the growing number of the unemployed.

"It is highly advisable, therefore, that capitalists appoint a committee representing the interests of both capitalists and laborers for the discussion of means of developing industrial possibilities. The present association will take all possible means of realising the organisation of such a committee, but the consequence would be of little avail if the Government remains indifferent. The authorities are requested to provide for the following:

"To establish a Labor Department, to enact labor union laws, to establish a labor trouble arbitration court, to establish additional public intelligence offices, to encourage Government enterprises, to enact labor insurance law."

The Chuo reports that the Home Office has decided to give every consideration to the points raised in the above representation.

The Police authorities are reported to have commenced an investigation into reasons why the retail prices of necessaries have not made a proportional fall to the decline in wholesale prices. Retail dealers found guilty of profiteering will, according to the Police, "be swept out of existence."

PREMIER STANDS FAST

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 27.—Mr. Lloyd George, in acknowledging the freedom of Barnsley today, said that Great Britain had risen above all prejudices, and had proposed unprecedented terms to Ireland, which commended themselves to the whole civilised world. He trusted that common-sense would prevail.

"We cannot countenance separation," he declared, amid cheers, if it should lead to civil war in Ireland. If Southern Ireland is not satisfied with freedom, and insists on separation, all hope of accommodation must be abandoned."

TEETHING TIME NEED NOT MEAN TEARS

When baby's teeth are coming through is a time of worry to many mothers. The little one's gums become swollen and tender; he is cross; does not sleep well; is troubled with constipation, colic or diarrhoea, and sometimes even convulsions seize him.

During this period nothing can equal the use of Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and make the teething so easy that the mother scarcely realise baby is getting his teeth.

These Tablets are equally healthful and harmless to the youngest infant and the child of eight or more, curing constipation, indigestion, colic, diarrhoea, simple fever and expelling worms.

Baby's Own Tablets are to be had from chemists, also post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

GLAUCUS MAY FLOAT AGAIN ON TIDE'S TURN

Cordillere's Condition Is Unchanged But Should Be Off Bar This Week

The steamer Henrik, which ran aground in the mouth of the Yangtsze last Tuesday, was sufficiently lightered of its coal cargo to be pulled off the bar Saturday afternoon. The vessel proceeded to Shanghai under its own steam, and is reported as only slightly damaged.

The Blue Funnel liner, Glaucus, aground on the Tungsha Spit since last Monday, will probably be towed into deep water Wednesday, when the strong tide returns. The Glaucus was moved Saturday, but the cables broke. The cargo has been almost entirely transferred.

The condition of the steamer Cordillere, Messageries Maritimes, which grounded on the same bar, and about the same time as the Glaucus, continues the same. Her list varies with the tide, but the local agent is now confident the vessel will be brought to Shanghai sometime this week.

Erzberger's Death Stops Pan-German Tannenberg Fete

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, August 27.—Two students have been arrested at Offenburg on suspicion of having murdered Herr Erzberger. Labor organisations and political parties are strongly urging the Government to put an end to the Chauvinist agitation to which Herr Erzberger's murder is attributed.

The Government has forbidden a festival which had been arranged by the Pan-Germans to celebrate the German victory over the Russians at Tannenberg in the late war.

STUDENTS ARE FREED

Berlin, August 28.—The public feeling of indignation aroused by Herr Erzberger's death has culminated in the organisation of huge demonstrations against "the white terror" on Wednesday next, on the occasion of the funeral.

The Left parties announce that they do not intend to allow any future militaristic demonstrations without simultaneous counter-action.

The two students who were arrested at Offenburg have been released.

The Government has offered a reward of 100,000 marks for the capture of Herr Erzberger's assassins.

Paris, August 27.—On hearing of Herr Erzberger's assassination, Dr. Walter Rathenau, the German Minister of Reparations, exclaimed that it was "a great misfortune for Germany."

Berlin, August 29.—Despite police prohibition, Communists and Monarchists held rival demonstrations at Potsdam yesterday but did not come into conflict. The Communists however had a clash with the police and two of them were killed and one wounded.

Bandit's Head Is To Warn Comrades

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Kuyuan, August 25.—The glory of the notorious bandit, Kuo Chien, has come to an end. He was invited by the new tuchun to proceed to Fahtsian, where he arrived on the 13th and was instantly surrounded by troops, captured, shot and beheaded. His head is now hanging on the imperial city wall. His bodyguards were also executed wholesale.

The road west of Sianfu is not yet open to traffic. The ex-tuchun, Chen Shu-fang, is co-operating with the bandits of the province and is terrorising these districts.

Suiyuan is totally demolished by earthquake, heavy rain and hail. Crops are destroyed while the people are in the most pitiable condition. Epidemic is already spreading and it is feared that there will be another famine.

'More Creditors Than Ever' Says Paredes Of Bank

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, August 18 (by mail).—In a statement concerning affairs of the Shanghai Branch of Philippine National Bank, Secretary of Justice Paredes, who has just returned from Shanghai, declared that the bank was on a sounder footing than ever. He said that the loss of $5,000,000 gold had actually strengthened the bank's standing, as it was able to meet its obligations. He also stated that the bank was now in a stronger position, as it had "more creditors than ever." The branch in Shanghai would probably be continued, Mr. Paredes said.

Another irregularity in connection with affairs of the Philippine National Bank was uncovered recently with the arrest of Mr. Trinitario Quintero, chief accountant of the Iloilo branch. The charge has not been made public but is known to have grown out of Mr. Quintero's employment in the bank.

New U.S. Ambassador Sailing For Japan On The Golden State

Charles Beecher Warren, the new American Ambassador to Japan, will sail from San Francisco for Yokohama on the Pacific Mail liner Golden State on August 31, according to a dispatch to the Tokio Asahi from its San Francisco correspondent. The Golden State is due at Yokohama on September 15.

The Asahi dispatch says that Mr. Warren probably will be asked to address the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce during his stay in that city. Mr. Warren, the dispatch says, will at once take up negotiations with the Japanese Government on several pending questions, including the California question.

MAKE US STATE OF U.S. IS PLEA OF MORO PEOPLE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Zamboanga, P. I., Aug. 17 (by mail).—The Moro platform on the Philippine independence question was set forth succinctly by a native chief in a speech delivered before the Wood-Forbes mission in the plaza here today. It is:—

(1). The Moros do not want independence for the Philippines.
(2). The Moros do not want to mix with the Filipinos.
(3). The Moros want Mindanao separated from the remainder of the Philippines.
(4). The Moros want to be annexed to the United States as a territory.
(5). The Moros want American officials in Mindanao in order to avoid trouble.

At the same meeting, the Filipino case was set forth by Attorney Eriquiaga, who said the Islands wanted independence with a protectorate as soon as possible, but that Filipinos would not attempt to say whether a stable government had been established, preferring to lay the facts before the mission and let it judge.

A banner carried in a parade which escorted the mission to the meeting bore the inscription:

"Must the heart of America beat only for freedom for Ireland, Poland, and Czecho-Slovakia, and not for the independence of the Philippines?"

Two Chinese Die From Shots; Others Refuse Information

(Reuter's Service)

Toronto, August 29.—Four Chinese belonging to the crew of the Dominion Coal Company's steamer Maskinolge were killed and two wounded by revolver shots fired in the forecastle of the steamer which is anchored near Quebec. No weapon was discovered and the surviving Chinese refuse to throw any light on the affray.

FILIPINO HEADS SUPREME COURT OF THE ISLANDS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, August 18 (by mail).—Mr. Manuel Araullo, for many years an associate justice of the Philippine Supreme Court, has been nominated Chief Justice, according to press dispatches from Washington, which also state that Mr. Norberto Romualdez and Mr. Charles A. Johns have been nominated as associate justices.

The new nominations, if confirmed, will continue the American majority of one on the Supreme bench. It was reported that Justice E. Finley Johnson, the oldest judge on the court, would be selected as chief justice. The Filipinos, however, represented to President Harding that the selection of an American chief justice would be regarded as a backward step here. Speaker Osmena has since issued a statement thanking the president for the nomination of a Filipino, and predicting that "we are at opening of an administration which will be consistent and progressive."

The nomination is generally regarded as "good politics," as the Filipinos apparently attach much importance to having one of their race in the office. At the same time, the American majority of the court is preserved.

BODIES OF TWO VICTIMS OF R38 ARE RECOVERED

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 27.—The forepart of the R. 38 has been raised. One British and one American body have been recovered. There is a reluctance to employ divers owing to the tangled wires among the wreckage and the treacherous tides.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Very sympathetic messages have been exchanged between King George and President Harding on the subject of the R. 38 disaster. The State Department has accepted the British offer to repatriate the bodies of the Americans on board a warship.

Police Look Into Death Mystery

The mysterious death of a hawker found with a cord about his throat in a lodging house at 391 Kiukiang Road Sunday is being looked into by the police. It was at first reported to the authorities that the man had been found suffering from cholera and that he was sent to the Shantung Road Hospital where he was refused admission and ordered sent to the Red Cross Hospital on Peking Road. When he arrived at the latter place life was found to be extinct. Investigation of the report developed the fact that one of the lodging house coolies had found the man in bed yesterday morning with his neck encircled by a cord, the end of which was fastened to the bed rail. The cord had been cut from a window curtain.

AMERICAN SILK MARKET INACTIVE

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 30.—Business in the American raw silk market continues inactive. Manufacturers say that orders for silk goods have steadily decreased during the past two or three weeks; therefore, until the demand begins to pick up again it is not likely that they will resume buying. The mills are, however, watching quotations very carefully and if the market weakens to any appreciable extent it is said on reliable authority that they would not hesitate to make liberal purchases.

Prices vary widely in different sections of the market but the average, as compared with the level of a week ago, is fairly well maintained.

Unofficial estimates received from New Jersey and Pennsylvania place the number of silk mills in operation at about 55 percent, and comparatively few of the plants are now working at capacity. On the other hand most of the silk mills in Rhode Island are running on full time schedules and night shifts are employed in some of the larger plants, but it should be borne in mind that the industry in Rhode Island cannot be compared from a viewpoint of importance with New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

A leading feature in the cotton market this week has been a growing belief, stimulated by numerous private crop advices from the belt, that the crop has made better progress than the trade has been led to believe. Early in the month weevil reports were so plentiful and gloomy that it seemed reasonable to assume that the crop would be much reduced through this medium alone, to say nothing of the damage inflicted by lack of cultivation because of excessive rains.

According to advices from Memphis, the view at the end of the month is that, unless something unforeseen happens, a large yield is going to be assured in much of the adjacent territory. One of the leading local cotton men declares that the crop undoubtedly has a higher expectancy of yield today than at any time since it was planted.

Among farmers the labor question has become very much easier this summer. Where farmers in the Southwest were paying $10 and even $15 a day for harvest hands a year ago and having difficulty in getting them even at these prices, they are now getting men at $3 a day. With the decreased employment in the industries, men are going back to the small farms, and it is pointed out that of 4,000 vacant farms in New England a year ago because of the shortage of labor, only 800 are vacant now.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tincture and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

TSINGTAO REFUSE TO PLAY WHEN UMP SAYS OTA BALKED; GAME FORFEITED; SCORE 9-0

Locals Far Ahead In Sixth When Japanese Demand Reversed Decision

School boy tactics on the part of the visiting Tsingtao baseball players yesterday afternoon spoiled what otherwise might have developed into the best game of the present series with Shanghai. The said school boy stuff lost the game for the Tsingtao boys on an umpire's forfeit by a score of 9-0.

The forfeit, however, did not give Shanghai anything it had not already earned, for when the boyish squabbling began and finished, the local team was ahead in the score to the tune of 9 to 6. The earned run column of the box score showed seven runs earned for Shanghai, to four for the visitors. Shanghai had a man on third with none out. They were going strong, hitting the old ball for all they were worth, with a big walk-over win in sight. The forfeit was an easy way out for the Japanese. Had they continued play they surely would have been badly beaten.

The difficulty came in the sixth inning. Ota, the little shortstop-pitcher who had relieved Fujimori in the fourth when the latter was touched up for five healthy bingles and four runs, caused all the trouble. Wilhoit, running for Hopkins, was taking a lead off first. Ota began his windup, took his step toward the batter preliminary to delivery, then hesitated, drew back his foot a fraction of a second, as though he was changing his mind. Wilhoit scampered back to the Sack. Ota, evidently realising that he was balking, hurriedly stepped again toward the plate and shot the ball. It was a clear balk. Wilhoit claimed it. Umpire Hemsworth allowed it. Chief Umpire Stovall approved the decision. Wilhoit went to second.

JUST LIKE "ONE OLE" CAT

Then Ota gave his school boy exhibition. He recalled to the writer's mind the "One-Ole Cat" matches after school time, many years ago, when one boy player, desirable, or otherwise owned the bat and the ball, and insisted on having the best of everything holding out the threat at every protest that he would take his ball and bat, go home and so end the play, if he did not get what he wanted.

Ota said the same thing: "If you call a balk on me" in effect, was his ultimatum. "I won't play any more." When both umpires assured him he had balked, and advised him that he must suffer the advance of the base runner, he threw the ball to the ground and quit. And while the ball was roaming about in the grass Wilhoit went on to third base. That was the last straw. The whole Japanese team balked. Umpire Stovall called "Play Ball" and waited the required one minute. But the Japanese were solid with Ota. They wouldn't play any more and the game was forfeited.

SHAI THE BETTER TEAM

The Tsingtao team put up a poor example of baseball, not to mention sportsmanship, in their four games here. Shanghai ha to concede them everything in Sunday's game to keep them playing. One instance in particular was when a Japanese batter bunted towards third. Maloney raced after the ball, but seeing that it was rolling foul, he let it go, jumping over it because he could not so suddenly halt his motion. Because the batsman had reached first and because Maloney had jumped over the ball, the Tsingtao insisted upon having it called fair, else they would not play any more. To avoid a difficult situation Shanghai conceded. Yesterday's ultimatum of the Japanese was but another such example. It was well that Shanghai stood on its rights as defined in the rules of play.

The series as it stands gives Shanghai three games to Tsingtao's one. The local men outclassed the visitors in every game played. The first game merely "fell" to Tsingtao on the breaks of baseball luck. Wilhoit's men outplayed them even in that game which they lost. And, had Tsingtao continued playing yesterday

Comments On The Game

The action of Umpire Stovall in forfeiting the game met with general approval of the civilised fans.

In every decision to which the Japanese objected, both Sunday and yesterday, they were absolutely dead wrong.

Dennison did not seem able to get started. His straight one was as slow as the mail from Moscow, and his curves refused to break.

Merrill struck them all out in the third, and threw them all out in the fourth. The Tsingtao rally froze up like a vamp's affections when he took Denny's place on the mound.

Ota was not as effective as he was on Sunday. Still, pitching two days in succession is quite an assignment for such a little cuss as he is. If size counted, he would be called on to hurl about one game in a season.

Hopkins at first gobbled everything that came his way. Too bad that bird hasn't got better underpinning. We need him in the game all the time.

Merrill picked two runners off the bags in the sixth, just when the visitors had a rally in prospect. Otani was on third and Nakashima on second, with only one down. The first named took a lead and Merrill shot the ball to Crow, who got his man by a yard. An instant later he pegged to Bills, nipping Nakashima at second. It was a neat bit of marksmanship on the Shanghai pitcher's part.

Crow put up a sparkling game at third, his one miscue of a bunted ball being excusable. His handling of Merrill's throw to catch Otani in the sixth was perfect. Incidentally, it takes a quick eye and sole leather palm to stop the old pill when Merrill shoots it to a base to catch a runner. They ought to supply masks and pads for the infielders when that bird is pitching, for if one of his bullet-like heaves ever got through a glove it would tear their ribs loose.

The Japanese players were transported from the park to their hotel in a fine big motor bus, painted a brilliant yellow.

It was a fine day for the game, with a gentle breeze sweeping across a field that was warmed and lighted by a big yellow autumn sun.

It is rather difficult to analyse the mental attitude of the Japanese toward baseball, or toward any sport, for that matter. To be fair to them, it should be said, perhaps, that their national attribute of excessive politeness finds expression in their sports, causing them to think of the "other fellow" somewhat differently than the American thinks of him. In America, for instance, it is held to be a part of the game to take every possible advantage allowable under the rules. Thus if a sprinter can beat the pistol without being called back he figures himself just that much better as a sprinter, beating the pistol being just as legitimate as a fast pair of legs, and holding at the other fellow has precisely the same privilege if he cares to make use of it. In America, too, baseball players believe in holding the other fellow to every possible restriction under the rules, it being part of a baseball player's equipment to know the rules, and to be able to detect, instantly, the slightest violation of them on the part of an opposing player. To profit from the other fellow's ignorance of the rules, or from his unintentional violation of them is not regarded as poor sportsmanship for a minute, because the other fellow is a good player just in proportion as he (a) possesses mechanical ability, and as he (b) is grounded in the rules of the game. To take advantage of an opponent's lack of knowledge of the rules, or of his failure to observe them is exactly the same as taking advantage of his physical inability to execute a play. Thus when an American baseball player demands his pound of flesh when an opposing pitcher makes a balk he is not lacking in sportsmanship, and to refuse to voice his demand on a sentimental plea

READ AND GIBSON TAKE WEEK-END CLAY BIRD CUPS

"Old Shot's" Cup To Read; Gold Trophy Won In 20 Straight Shots

Sunday afternoon was one of the most enjoyable spent this season at the Clay Pigeon Club. The weather conditions were ideal compared with that experienced during the last two week-ends, and in consequence there was a large attendance, including several ladies.

The first competition was for "The Old Shot's" Cup, of 40 birds, and another prize was also presented by the same donor for the longest string of breaks without a miss.

Messrs. H.H. Read (37) and A.E. Algar (35) with their handicaps tied by a score of 40½, but the event was won by Mr. Read who had fewer double barrels.

Mr. Hexamer with 20 breaks without a miss secured the prize for the longest string.

The next competition was for the much discussed "Gold Cup," conditions 20 birds under sealed handicap.

Mr. H. E. Gibson by breaking 20 straight won this event.

The following are the full scores:

OLD SHOTS CUP

Read	37	plus 3½	—	40½
Algar	35	„ 5½	—	40½
Bates	28	„ 10	—	38
Gande	33	„ 4½	—	37½
Pirie	30	„ 7	—	37
McBain	30	„ 7	—	37
Gibson	34	„ 2	—	36
Hexamer	36	scr	—	36
Bruce	26	plus 10	—	36
Nazer	30	„ 5½	—	35½
Tuxford	23	„ 9	—	32

GOLD CUP

Gibson	20	plus 1	—	21
Tuxford	18	„ 3½	—	21½
Bruce	17	„ 4½	—	21½
Algar	19	„ 2	—	21
McBain	17	„ 4	—	21
Morriss	16	„ 4	—	20

Nazer	14	„ 2	—	16
Moller	14	„ 2	—	16
McEuen	12	„ 3½	—	15½

Mr. Moller who was the donor of the "Old Shot's" Cup made the presentation to Mr. Read, stating that it was a very popular win as Mr. Read was the oldest clay bird shot here, and that the cup had been given really by him in memory of the old hands.

Up to this time the gold cup which had been in a well sealed and guarded package was brought forth by Mr. Lemiere. In a very clever speech the gathering was informed that it would be understood why the prize was called the "Gold" Cup, when the name of the donor was disclosed, namely Mr. Dell 'Oro. Mr. Gibson in receiving a very handsome silver cup, attached to which was a golden sovereign suitably engraved, did not seem at all disappointed.

The intervening time between now and Sept. 14 will be taken up in practice for the Interport Match, and it is hoped Shanghai will be able to put in a good team.

Parts Of Europe Dislike Boxing; Spain Calls It Brutal

Boxing seems to be one of those sports that certain parts of Europe never will understand. England and France, like America and Australia, know it is a mighty clean and scientific method of physical combat. But, at present, Germany and Spain do not share the same views.

Both countries gave voice to criticism immediately after the Dempsey-Carpentier battle had been staged. The 90,000 who saw the clash know there was nothing brutal about it. They saw a few trickles of blood when the champion skinned the Frenchman's nose. They saw Dempsey knock down Carpentier twice and then saw him get up. And they learned that there were no harmful after effects to the Frenchman.

Yet in Spain they classified the battle as "degrading and brutal," called it infinitely worse than bull fighting, where a man or a beast is always killed before the fight is complete. And in Germany the contest was termed "ghastly and horrible" and "a terrible blow at world culture."

Jose Ortega Munilla, president of the Spanish Academy, rose up in Madrid after the fisticuffing was done and said:

"The contest constitutes the culmination of triumphant brutality.

"Two men sell their health and dignity to a curious multitude which pays them to destroy themselves with punches. They do not fight because they hate. Salaried combatants represent the most infamous prostitution; those who speculate thereon represent the vilest lust, while those attending represent the stupidest cruelties.

"The notable publicity given to this event seems to indicate an intention to export similar spectacles to Europe. We lack just that."

One of the Berlin newspapers said, editorially:

"Can you conceive of anything more ghastly and horrible than the nauseating scene of two brutalised individuals who can only apologically be regarded as members of the human race, beating each other until one is unconscious?

"Instead of the thousands of spectators blushing and hanging their heads in shame, they cheered the loathsome spectacle.

"Boxing is lower and more degrading in its coarse brutality than the combats of the old Roman gladiators. It is baser than the despicable cruelty of the Spanish bullfight. What really triumphs is the power of money.

"This pest of interest in boxing threatens to destroy our culture."

TENNIS FINAL OF HANYEHPING CLUB WON BY MR. TYAU

Winner Beats S. K. Voong In Four Sets; Both Given Cups

A large crowd gathered at the Han-Yeh-Ping Club grounds, 11 Jessfield Road, Saturday afternoon to witness the finals in the tennis tournament in singles for Chinese players. Under most favorable weather conditions, the contestants in the finals, Mr. C. H. Tyau and Mr. S. K. Voong faced each other on the lawn and a most exciting series of games were played off.

Mr. Tyau started off the games by taking the serve and with good play took the first set from Mr. Voong at 6-2. Mr. Voong rallied in the second set and after a display of well placed shots snatched the second set from Mr. Tyau at 8-6. Mr. Tyau refused to be taken advantage of and playing carefully managed to place the third set in his favor by getting his sixth game when Mr. Voong had only two. With the fourth set Mr. Voong tried to level up the score but it is evident that Mr. Tyau will become the winner. Mr. Voong was only able to put up one game better than the third set when Mr. Tyau got the sixth game, the score standing at 6-3.

Admist continued applause Mr. Tyau received the champion's silver cup from Mrs. Shah, wife of Mr. Shah Kai-fu, general manager of the Han-Yeh-Ping Iron and Coal Co., Ltd. Mr. Voong was presented with another silver cup as runner up in this tournament.

Tea and refreshments were served to the guests after the presentation of the cups.

JAPAN WINS FINAL MATCHES IN THE DAVIS CUP CHALLENGE ROUND AGAINST AUSTRALASIA

Shimidzu And Kumagae Win Four Matches Out Of Five

(Reuter's Service)

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27.—In the singles for the Davis Cup Kumagae (Japan) beat Anderson (Australasia) 3-6, 7-5, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1. Japan thus qualifies to meet America in the challenge round.

Later.—In the final matea Shimidzu defeated Hawkes, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. Thus Japan defeated Australasia by four matches to one.

Kumagae displayed stoical control in the third singles match and therein sacrificed brilliancy and speed. He drove the ball back continually to Anderson, depending on the latter's errors for points. There were but few brilliant spots, although the volleys were protracted, and the match took over two hours.

In the latter stages it became very monotonous. The regular returning of the ball appeared to get on Anderson's nerves, and his play deteriorated. He piled up 137 errors during the match. The game was played on a fast court.

Shimidzu, in his match with Hawkes, displayed the tame but tireless tennis which has given the Japanese their recent victories.

Johnston, Williams, Tilden and Washburn To Defend Davis Cup

New York, August 12.—The United States Amateur tennis association announces that William T. Tilden, 2nd; William M. Johnston; R. Norris Williams, 2nd; and Warson M. Washburn will defend the Davis cup in the challenge round at New York on September 3, 4 and 5.

McBride Struck On Head By Ball

Washington, July 27.—Manager McBride of the Washington Americans was knocked unconscious in practice before today's game with Chicago when struck on the head with a ball thrown by Earl Smith, local outfielder. Although revived in a few minutes, he is suffering paralysis of the lower part of his face, but this condition was believed to be temporary.

AUSSIES-MEET ALL ENGLAND AMATEUR XI

Dismiss The Home Side With 43 Runs In Only 73 Minutes

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 27.—On a good batsman's wicket, hard and fast, at Eastbourne today, an All-England eleven of amateurs was dismissed for the lowest total of any side in the present Australians' tour. The Home side, who won the toss and elected to bat, were all out for 43, the innings lasting 73 minutes. McDonald took five wickets for 21 and Armstrong five for 15.

The Australians did not fare brilliantly, however, being all out for 174, of which Bardsley contributed a chanceless 70, including six fours; he was two hours at the wicket.

Going in again, the English team had scored 8 runs for one wicket when stumps were drawn.

EXCHANGE FORMED BY POLITICIANS IS OPPOSED HERE

Peking Cabinet Violates Its Own Restrictions On New Institutions

Strenuous opposition has been started by local Chinese merchant against the establishment by Peking officials and politicians in Shanghai of what is known as the China Internal Debenture Exchange, with temporary offices at 6 The Bund.

Prominent Chinese in the business community assert that the establishment is not warranted and is inconsistent with the declarations made by the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce that such exchanges should not exist.

The new exchange claims its existence through a charter granted to it by a Cabinet meeting and is organised as a semi-governmental enterprise.

Already there are in Shanghai two exchanges dealing in the same business as the new one. Both of these have been repeatedly condemned by public bodies because of their practice of buying and selling their own shares. But a third is yet to be operated under government officials and the shrewd business men are now in uproars against all three, especially the latest enterprise, which they style as an institution which will shake the confidence of business men in all government enterprises.

The business men here liken the new exchange as the Hsin Hwa Savings Lottery and the Prize-bearing Debentures of the Ministry of Agriculture and of Commerce, in neither of which the government fulfilled its obligations.

While the Cabinet has authorised the establishment of an exchange, whose function is already being carried out by other exchanges, the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce is asking the local authorities to disallow all exchanges conducted in violation of the bye-laws recently promulgated by itself.

Because of the mushroom birth of the many exchanges in Shanghai and vicinity, the Settlement authorities are beginning a thorough investigation of the institutions and have asked the City Magistrate for a copy of the new regulations which propose to restrict them.

Comments On The Game

that the other fellow did not mean to balk would be mollycoddleism. It is the other fellow's duty not to balk, and to remember, all the time, that he musn't balk. If he can't keep that rule in mind, along with the other rules of the game, then he has no business playing, any more than if he had a broken leg.

The Japanese idea seems to be that if a player makes an unintentional miscue, like a balk, it should not count against him. They seem to think, judged from certain remarks made by apparently intelligent Japanese at the game yesterday, and also at the Filipino-Japanese games in the spring, that because the balk was unintentional the penalty should not have been insisted upon. At the Olympic games last spring an American asked one of the Japanese coaches why he didn't get his swimmers and sprinters away from their marks quicker, and his reply was to the effect that the Japanese boys dreaded even the appearance of trying to take an advantage of their opponents.

Was he sincere in that statement? Was that an outcropping of the national spirit of politeness of the Japanese? Or was it just an alibi?

If you can supply the answer you know more about the working of the Japanese mind than the writer does. If that is their sincere belief, and if that is their real mental attitude toward baseball and other sports indulged in by Americans, then they will never compete on even terms with Americans, because in America the belief is fundamental that to play the game properly you must play it with your head as well as your hands. From childhood Americans are taught that one of the great advantages of indulgence in sports is that they encourage mental alertness as well as physical efficiency, which could not hold true if the individual players were permitted to interpret the rules and the application of them according to their own individual ideas. Under any other system the little lilly white mama's pets would have the same chance as the physically and mentally robust participants in those red blooded games in which, under the American code, only the fittest can, and should, survive.

BOYCOTT ELECTION

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, August 29.—The Vladivostok Workmen's Conference yesterday resolved to boycott the municipal elections.

Man Is Stabbed In Armed Robbery

Shortly before 9 p.m. Sunday four men, one flourishing what is believed to have been a dummy revolver and another a dagger, entered a general shop at 726 Lay Road and while the armed duo terrorised the inmates the others set about robbing the place.

It so happened that the first floor of the shop is used as a recreation club by members of the Hou Sung Cotton Mill, which is nearby, and several of there men gave the alarm, frightening the robbers away, but not before the man with the knife had slashed one of the store's employes on the leg. The haul amounted to two umbrellas and a cash box containing about $6 and an account book. Neighbors who saw the men flee stated that a motor car was waiting for them at a distance of a few hundred yards from the shop, the number plate being covered over with paper.

Secrets of Beauty

IS it true, as some people say, that powder injures the texture of the skin?—JESS B.

Pure rice powder can do no harm if removed at night with cold cream. Simply washing the face with water does not so effectually remove powder. Take off the powder first with cold cream, which mixes better with it. Then cleanse the face with warm water and almond meal or oatmeal, or, if you prefer it, with a pure soap.

I AM troubled with small white marks on my finger nails. Please explain the cause of these and tell me of a remedy.—PEGGY.

These blemishes are sometimes, though not always, caused by bruises, or they may be caused by a stoppage of the flow of the nutrient juices. To remove them apply at night a paste made of equal parts of refined pitch or of turpentine and myrrh melted together. This mixture can be removed in the morning by the use of a little olive oil.

MY hands always get red and coarse looking during cold weather. How can this be remedied?—J. M. C.

Never retire without anointing them with lanolin or a mixture of equal parts of glycerine and rosewater. If preferred, here is an English paste for the purpose, which can be made at home:

Cocoa butter	1 ounce
Oil of sweet almonds	1 ounce
Oxide of zinc	1 dram
Borax	1 dram
Oil of bergamot	6 drops

Heat the cocoa butter and oil of almonds in a double boiler, and when thoroughly blended add the zinc and borax; stir as it cools and add the oil of bergamot last.

MY hair is now an ugly-looking dead-brown color. How can I restore it to its original gloss?—P. H.

The best way to make dead-brown hair rich and glossy is to upbuild one's general health. A doctor will tell you that the hair and teeth are fairly safe barometers of one's vitality. Take the tonics of plenty of fresh air, of exercise out of doors, of simple, nourishing food, and your hair will soon share your vigor. Much brushing will make it more lustrous. Also the tri-weekly application of this tonic will help:

Sulphate of quinine	30 grains
Tincture of cantharides	1 ounce
Glycerine	1 ounce
Powdered borax	15 grains
Alcohol	2 pints
Water	2 pints

I LOVE to wear low-cut evening dresses, but my shoulders are often marred by unsightly blotches and pimples. What can I do to remedy this?—ALICE.

Look carefully to your diet. Do not eat any rich food. A thorough scrubbing of the shoulders with warm water and pure soap once a day, followed by a rub-down with alcohol, should be sufficient to keep them prettily smooth and white, if the diet is a correct one.

HOW can I rid my face of those ugly pimples?—A. R.

Lack of sufficient cleanliness of the skin, or a faulty diet of heavy and rich foods are the chief causes of these blemishes. I would recommend scrubbing the affected parts at night with green soap, using a complexion brush with great thoroughness. When the blackheads have been softened press out the contents of each one with the side of a needle which has been sterilized by passing it through a flame or through boiling water. Afterward put cold cream on these places to heal the irritation.

Household Helps

Baked Ham.

TRY baking ham in about three pints of sweet cider, basting it often and serving in its own sauce.

Pillow Stuffing.

OLD newspapers cut into strips about an eighth of an inch wide and six inches long make excellent stuffing for sofa pillows.

Cornstarch in Fudge.

THE addition of a scant spoonful of cornstarch in making fudge will prevent its being hard and grainy.

When Cooking Cabbage.

TO make cabbage easier to digest pour off the water when it is half boiled and replace with fresh boiling water.

Cleaning Copper.

RUB copper that needs cleaning with half a lemon dipped in salt, then wash well in warm water and polish with a soft, dry cloth.

Sauce for Prunes.

A DELICIOUS sauce for prunes can be made by adding a little cornstarch to the water in which they are stewed.

Tested "Company Dinner" Recipes

By Mary Lee Swann,

The Well-Known Writer and Lecturer on Cooking.

Boiled Custard.

BEAT 3, 4, 5 or 6 egg yolks slightly, add ¼ cup sugar and a pinch of salt and mix well. Then add 2 cups milk, scalded over hot water, and stir over hot water until the mixture coats the spoon. Strain into a cold dish. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla after the custard is cold.

Veal Loaf.

PRESS 3½ pounds raw veal, cut from leg, through meat grinder with ¼ pound salt pork, ¼ pound cooked ham, 6 sauted mushrooms and 8 or 10 saltines. Add ½ teaspoon powdered mace, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 tablespoons milk and 3 well-beaten eggs. Shape with hands, place on rack in baking pan, place 2 or 3 thin slices of bacon on loaf and bake about 2 hours, basting frequently. Serve hot or cold.

Floating Island.

BEAT 5 egg whites until foamy. Add ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar and beat until dry, adding gradually ½ cup sugar and ½ cup thick apple sauce. Add a few chopped almonds and 3 or 4 chopped maraschino cherries. Turn into a large buttered mold, which has also been sprinkled with sugar. (Invert the mold so that all sugar that does not adhere to buttered sides of pan will come out.) Place in a steamer containing hot, but not boiling, water, and steam for 20 minutes. Do not allow water to boil. Cool and unmold on a deep glass serving dish and surround with chilled boiled custard. Garnish, if desired, with whipped cream.

Fillet of Lamb.

CUT fillet of lamb into 6 or 7 pieces about 1 inch thick. Saute in a little butter in a hot iron pan 8 or 10 minutes. Sprinkle with salt. Remove to hot platter and serve with currant mint sauce.

Baked Shad with Roe Sauce.

CAREFULLY remove scales, clean and split a shad. Place in an oiled or greased baking pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper, brush over with melted butter and bake in a rather quick oven. Remove to hot platter and serve with roe sauce.

Roe Sauce.

PUT 2 tablespoons butter and 1 tablespoon lemon juice in a shallow baking dish. Add ½ shad roe sprinkled with salt, pepper, cayenne and a grating of nutmeg. Cover and bake about ½ hour. Remove tough portion of roe. Melt and carefully brown 3 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour and brown evenly. Add 1 cup chicken stock gradually, while stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point and add roe and a pinch of salt.

Heart Lettuce Salad.

PICK over and wash lettuce carefully. Place in a clean cheesecloth bag and place near ice to drain. Arrange on salad plates and sprinkle with choice French dressing or marinate with oil and seasoned vinegar before placing on serving plates. French dressing may be varied by the addition of finely chopped pimentoes, rine olives, pistachio nuts, green peppers or parsley.

Sweetbread Croquettes.

MIX 1 cup finely chopped cooked sweetbreads, 1 cup chopped and cooked (fried in a little butter) mushrooms, ½ cup very thick white sauce, 1 egg yolk, a few grains of mace, a few drops of onion juice, ½ teaspoon lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste. Shape into small croquettes, "egg-and-crumb" and fry in deep fat. Drain on unglazed paper.

Planked Steak.

WIPE a two-inch-thick sirloin steak, remove flank end and pan-broil 10 minutes. Slightly oil an oak plank, heat and arrange a border of mashed potatoes (forced through pastry bag and tube) around edge of plank, making 6 or 8 nests of the potatoes. Place pan-broiled steak in centre of plank, dot with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and put in oven to brown potatoes and finish cooking steak. Fill potato nests with green peas, well seasoned and reheated, and arrange little mounds of buttered carrot cubes and buttered asparagus tips at equal distances from the nests. Garnish with quarters of tomatoes or stuffed peppers and radish roses. If pastry bag is not convenient, arrange mashed potatoes around edge of plank and decorate with a fork. The potatoes should be pressed through a potato ricer, well seasoned with butter, salt and pepper, moistened with a little hot milk and made richer by the addition of 1 or 2 egg yolks. The egg also helps to keep the potato in shape while it is browning in the oven.

Is It Good Silk?

THERE are many simple tests which can be applied to a piece of silk to determine whether the fabric is what it pretends to be and if it is well suited for your particular purpose.

Pure-dye silk, whether fabric or thread, says Mary Schenck Woolman, author of "Clothing," will leave when burned a small, crispy coal or ash at the end of the burned place. If the silk has been weighted with sugar a much larger ash will be left. If weighted with iron a soft, reddish ash will be left in which the fire will glow for a few moments before going out. Silk weighted with tin leaves, a firm, black ash.

If silk is loosely woven, so that the threads easily push aside, it should not be made up in a way to have any drag on the fabric, as in tight sleeves and tight waists, for it is apt to fray as the threads are pulled to one side. Even if such silks are unweighted they will endure better if draped lightly.

To test for ability to stand this strain when a solidly woven material is required, place a needle in a double fold of the silk and draw the fabric away from it to see if the threads will stand such pressure.

Placing the finger nail against the yarn warp way and then woof way will also show the possible shifting of threads which may mean wear in a seam. Another method is to twist a corner of the silk tightly and then stretch it out smoothly and look through it to see what the effect has been on the threads.

Silks are made for many purposes and will not all stand the same kind of wear. It has nothing to do with imperfection if a silk intended for soft folds is found not to stand heavy service. Too stiff a silk will often crease and cut; if heavily weighted at the same time it will soon break in the creases. Taffetas are sometimes stiffened artificially, and if also weighted unduly will soon wear out.

Some varieties of silk will spot, as in the case with poplin, and should be sponged before making up if they have not been so treated at the factory. It is well to test a silk before buying it to see if it spots.

Silk will hold its color well if good dyes are used and care is taken in the process, but the difficulties and expense incident to obtaining the best results bring to the retail market many silks which will fade. A fast alizarine pure dye will cost about six times as much as an ordinary pure dye per pound. This difference makes such a considerable item in the price per yard of the material that alizarine dye is not much in use in women's dress goods.

It is always a good plan to try the effect of air and light on the color of a sample of silk before buying it.

A cord inserted in alternation with finger yarn is frequently seen in wash silks, but they are apt to wear alongside of the cord. Plain fabrics wear better, but the cord is attractive. If a silk which will launder is wanted it is well to try the effect of soap and water on a small piece before buying it.

An Old-Time Sweet

TO-DAY because of its economy and rich, full flavor housewives are gratefully rediscovering an old-time plantation sweet. Molasses is finding a larger and larger space on the pantry shelf.

Childhood has always loved "bread and 'lasses," but besides being very sweet and thick for a spread, good molasses has a very rich and individual flavor. Down on the plantations they used to boil down the sugar-cane juice in open kettles, taking out just one crop of sugar crystals. This "first boiling" molasses is full of valuable minerals, proteins and acids, and rich with "inverted" sugar which increases its flavor and food values.

The cost of molasses has already shown the downward drop, and hot gingerbread is "coming back strong" to the supper and lunch table, together with cookies, entire wheat bread, molasses pie and all the other delightful dishes that bring in this rich and economical sweet. Incidentally being rich in lime, the bone builder, molasses is far better for growing children than sugar.

This old-fashioned sweet has so much more flavor than sucrose or granulated sugar that, with its wholesale prices coming down, housewives who are interested in keeping down costs do well to turn to it.

ACCUSES JAPAN OF BLACKMAIL IN DIPLOMACY

(China Press Correspondence)

Canton, August 21.—The Canton Information Bureau has issued the following statement prepared by Mr. Eugene Chen, who was a Southern member of the Chinese Delegation to the Peace Conference at Paris in 1919:—

BY EUGENE CHEN

Referring to Mr. Lloyd George's recent speech in the House of Commons, it is instructive to note that the "gentleman" argument which he advances in favor of renewing the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is, in sense and almost in terms, exactly the same argument that he advanced at a meeting of the Council of Prime Ministers, generally known as the Council of Four, in favor of Japan's claim to succeed Germany in Shantung.

According to the message carried by Reuter's, Mr. Lloyd George stated that Japanese help in chasing raiders was one of the turning factors in the war. "Shall it be suggested that we now say to the Japanese 'Thank you, for standing by us in trouble, but we won't need you any longer. Good-bye?' Would anyone so behave in business. The British Empire must behave like a gentleman."

At the meeting of the Council of Four referred to, which took place at President Wilson's house, Place des Etats-Unis, Paris, on Tuesday, April 22, 1919, at 4.30 p.m., the Chinese delegate asked for a settlement of the Shantung question in terms of justice and pleaded that circumstances had so altered as to render unenforceable the Secret Agreement, dated February 16, 1917, whereby Mr. Lloyd George's War Cabinet had pledged the British Empire to support Japan's claim to succession to all German rights in Shantung.

Mr. Lloyd George justified the Agreement on the plea of military necessity. His reply is recorded in the "Official Notes" of the meeting taken by Sir Maurice Hankey, Secretary of the Council. A copy of these Notes is on file in the American State Department or the body in possession of the archives of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace. The following extract is quoted textually from a copy which I secured in Paris in 1919:

"Mr. Lloyd George said. . .the engagement that had been entered into with Japan had been contracted at a time when the support of that country was urgently needed. He would not say that the war could not have been won without that support. But he could say that Kiaochow could not have been captured without Japanese support. It was a solemn treaty and Great Britain could not turn round to Japan now and say 'All right, thank you, thank you very much. When we wanted your help, you gave it, but now we think that the treaty was a bad one and should not be carried out.'"

DIPLOMATIC BLACKMAIL

This reply proves that it was no "loyal interpretation of the Alliance," as suggested by Mr. Lloyd George, which moved Japan to go to the assistance of Great Britain during a "critical phase of the war. The opposite is the truth. Japan agreed to assist Great Britain only when the latter had promised to support Japan's claim to replace Germany in Shantung. And the British pledge was exacted in circumstances which permitted Japan to dictate her terms. A realist might describe the transaction as an act of diplomatic blackmail.

In this connexion, attention must be re-directed to a grave statement made by the Premier of Queensland when he visited London in the summer of last year. "The story of Japan's faithfulness to the Allies during hostilities," he wrote in the Review of Reviews for June, 1920, "has been praised from every platform; but who has put the other side of the case, or told of the quid pro quo which she demanded; or worse still, of the actual ultimatum to Australia, whilst the war was in progress?"

This must also be noted. While absolute German rights in the Pacific and in Africa have been transferred to Japan and others in trust under the Mandatory System, Chinese sovereign rights leased only to Germany have been handed over by Mr. Lloyd George to Japan outright. And though the eventual entry of China into the war on the side of the Allies legally and morally altered the situation in which the Secret Agreement relating to Shantung had been made. Mr. Lloyd George insisted that British honor demanded the enforcement of an agreement which, extorted in circumstances of diplomatic force majeure, deliberately sacrificed vital Chinese interests.

Two Girls Drowned In Soochow Creek

Two young Chinese girls fell from a boat train being towed up the Soochow Creek near Brenan Road early last evening and were drowned. The accident occurred at about 6:30 p.m. and up to a late hour no report had been made of recovery of the bodies.

Business and Official Notices

Special Notice to Mariners

No. 603

China—East Coast

Shanghai District
Yangtze River—South Channel Entrance.

Woosung Lightvessel to be temporarily withdrawn from her station and replaced by a relief Lightvessel.

NOTICE is hereby given that on or about the 10th September the Woosung Lightvessel, moored in the South Channel Entrance to the Yangtze River, will be temporarily withdrawn from her station, and replaced by a Relief Lightvessel "Launching."

The Relief Lightvessel "Tien-ching" is 83 feet in length and painted Red.

The light is exhibited from a lantern carried by an iron trestle structure, and is dioptric, of the fourth order, showing an occulting white light every 3 seconds, viz:—

Light .....0.3 seconds.
Eclipse .....2.7 seconds.

The centre of the light is elevated 35 feet above the water, and should be visible in clear weather at a distance of 10 nautical miles. A Black drum encircles the globe below the lantern as a day mark. During foggy or thick weather a gong will be beaten at short intervals.

When the Lightvessel is driven from her station, the usual light will not be shown, but a fixed Red light will be exhibited from each mast of the vessel during the night and a Red flag hoisted by day.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that we, Kwei Ye (金貴爺), and Ah Nee (金阿二) owned piece of land near Woosung containing about 6 mow 1 fen. In the year 1897 we sold same to a Mr. H. S. Craig at a price of $300.00 and handed over to him the title deeds upon receipt of his full payment of $300.00 to us. At that time Mr. Craig has remained silent and we therefore, in consideration of his interests, ask him to come to Woosung at any time within 3 months from date of this notice bringing with him the original deeds and to pay the balance of $1,700.00 upon which we will arrange for him to obtain an official title deed from the native authorities, or otherwise his interests and rights will be forfeited and that the deeds so given him will then be considered cancelled.

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1921

(20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each),

Rate of interest 8% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on May 30, 1921.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:—

1°—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°—The loan will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st July, 1931 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

3°—The loan will bear interest at 8% per annum, payable on the 30th day of June and 31st of December in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

4°—The property and income of the Municipality, deducting those which serve as security provided in the Municipal Loans of 1903, 1911, 1914 and 1916 are the security for the repayment of the money advanced and for the interest thereon in the present loan.

The Members of the French Municipal Council are not personally liable in any way for the payment of either principal or interests.

5°—Applications for debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for must be deposited at the same time.

6°—Applications for Debentures under par will not be recognised by the Council.

7°—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. LEGENDRE, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 1st July, 1921.
P. LEGENDRE,
40063 Secretary.

The Shanghai Kelantan Rubber Estates, Ltd.

A resolution authorising the liquidation of the Shanghai Kelantan Rubber Estates, Ltd., was passed yesterday at an extraordinary meeting of the company held at the office of their secretaries and general manageres, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons.

Mr. N. G. Maitland presided and was supported by Messrs. M. Speelman, Dr. R. S. Ivy, C. N. A. Stewart, J. V. C. Davis and M. E. Solomon. The secretary having read the notice of the meeting, the chairman said:

"With the Notice convening this meeting, the secretaries and general managers addressed letters to shareholders showing approximately the financial position of the company as at June 30, 1921 and also the reasons for the resolution we are called together to consider today.

"From the circular letter you will observe that apart from the debenture issue of Tls. 156,510, the company's liabilities at June 30, amounted to Tls. 94,856. This amount represents unpaid debenture interests, loans by the debenture holders, secretarial, auditors', trustees' and directors' fees, office expenses and the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank overdraft.

"During the past few years, the board of directors have been particular in placing the exact position of the company before shareholders and at the last annual meeting you were informed that unless some form of reconstruction was decided upon, the company would have to go into voluntary liquidation. Several meetings have taken place between the directors and debenture holders with the object of arriving at some definite conclusion with regard to a reconstruction and the directors were asked to submit a scheme to the debenture holders for their consideration. The schemes proposed by the directors provided for the issue of preference shares without interest in a new company to be given to the debenture holders in exchange for their debentures, shareholders and creditors to receive ordinary shares for a proportion of the face value of the shares held by them in the company or owing to them for services rendered. The principal debenture holders, however, refused to accept any proposal without their receiving preference shares bearing interest, but the directors feel that the burden of interest charges is one which precludes any chance of success for a new company and they are unable to recommend any such scheme to the shareholders.

"The estate has been working at a loss for some considerable time and as there appears to be no improvement in the market, the debenture holders, who have been advancing funds for the bare upkeep of the estate, have advised us that they cannot continue their further support. Under the circumstances it therefore becomes necessary for the company to go into voluntary liquidation. I now beg to propose the resolution of which you have had due notice:

"That it has been proved to the satisfaction of this meeting that the company cannot by reason of its liabilities continue its business and that it is advisable to wind up the same and accordingly that the company be wound up voluntarily and that S. A. Seth and A. McLure of 7, Avenue Edward VII, Shanghai, be and they are hereby appointed jointly and severally liquidators for the purposes of such winding up.

"But before putting the resolution to the meeting I shall be glad to answer to the best of my ability any questions shareholders would like to ask."

Mr. Stewart asked for the names of the debenture-holders which the chairman answered to the satisfaction of the meeting.

Mr. M. E. Solomon asked the chairman whether, supposing shareholders would accept a new issue of shares at least 10 percent on the paid up capital, the proposition would be considered of continuing the business of the company, since good news might be heard soon from London rubber circles which now are considering a scheme for the control of rubber prices.

The chairman replied that the debenture holders could not continue any longer and wished to wind up the company now.

The meeting then unanimously passed the resolution.

The War In Hupeh

THE exchange of peace terms between Wu Pei-fu and the Self-Government Troops of Hupeh and their Hunan allies, given below, gives access to the inside attitude and aspirations of both parties now fighting in Hupeh, besides furnishing a clue to the possible solution of the deadlock in Central China.

When Wu Pei-fu first arrived in Hankow, he wired to Chao Heng-ti, Chiang Tso-ping, Sung Hu-kun, Kung Keng and other leaders of the Hupeh self-government movement expressing his desire for a peaceful conclusion of the conflict. The insurgent party headed by Chao Heng-ti, Commander-in-Chief of Hunan, and Chiang Tso-ping, Commander of the Hupeh Self-government Troops, offered Wu Pei-fu and Hsiao Yao-nan the following terms:

1.—Chihli troops shall allow the allied forces of Hupeh and Hunan to approach Wuhan, where they will meet Chihli forces in a friendly spirit.

2.—The tuchunate system should be abrogated. Hsiao Yao-nan and Chiang Tso-ping shall be elected Commander-in-Chief and Civil Governor of Hupeh respectively. Independence shall also be declared of the Peking government, instead of which self-government shall be proclaimed in Hupeh.

3.—Hupeh shall supply $200,000 monthly to Hunan for military expenditures. In time of need, Hunan is entitled to demand ammunition from the Hanyang Arsenal in Hupeh.

4.—All posts in Hupeh occupied by Hunan troops shall be returned to Hupeh, and Chihli troops shall have the right to station there. But Hunan shall station at least one division of troops in Hupeh to insure and safeguard the establishment of a self-government.

To these terms offered by Chao and Chiang, Hsiao Yao-nan was the first to object, but he told the Hunan representative that the matter should be referred to Wu Pei-fu. The latter and Hsiao Yao-nan then agreed upon the four conditions given below as an answer to the above:

1.—Since Wang Chuan-yuan has been removed from Hupeh, the primary object of the insurgent movement has been attained. Chihli forces shall hereafter take full responsibility for the maintenance of peace in Hupeh, and since Hunan is friendly to Chihli, there seems to be ground for the Hunanese to come over to Wuhan.

2.—It is impossible for the Chihli faction to be alienated from the Peking government. Hsiao has already been appointed Tuchun of Hupeh by Peking, and there is no need of changing the mere name of Tuchun into Commander-in-Chief. Wu Pei-fu and Hsiao Yao-nan shall recommend Chiang Tso-ping to the post of Civil Governor of Hupeh, but the appointment must come from the government at Peking. The self-government proposition has already been promulgated by the Peking government, and it is unnecessary to start the work under a new banner.

3.—Hunan has sacrificed very much in ousting Wang Chuan-yuan from Hupeh, and shall be remunerated properly. Supplies of funds and ammunition shall be given to Hunan from time to time, but the amounts of such supplies should not be fixed.

4.—All Hunan forces shall be withdrawn from Hupeh territory since no troops are needed here. When Hunan's aid is needed in Hupeh, such shall be called for in the future.

Chao Heng-ti and Chiang Tso-ping construed this as disclosing Wu's insincerity and arrogance in dealing with Hunan and Hupeh insurgents, and thereupon decided to continue the present war against the successors of the much detested Wang Chuan-yuan. Tang Shang-ming, a native of Hupeh, sent to Hankow by Hupeh gentry at Tientsin and Peking to mediate, having been once Tuchun of Hunan province, acted for some time as a go-between, but the uncompromising attitudes of both Wu Pei-fu and insurgents blighted the last chance for peace. Hence the War must go on.

THE MORO PROBLEM

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—In your issue of Saturday last there was a report from Reuter's Pacific Service entitled "Moros Ready to Oust Filipinos Should U.S. Leave," and in order that your readers may be able to glean an idea of the Moros ungracious objection to Philippine Independence, I will enclose herewith, with your permission, a copy of The Independent, the leading Filipino weekly in Manila, dated August 20, 1921, commenting on the matter which I beg you to publish in your paper. Thanking you in advance for the insertion of the above mentioned editorial, I beg to remain, Yours very truly,

D. P. DE TAGLE.

Aug. 28, 1921.

(ENCLOSURE)

The new attitude adopted by the Moro datus and demagogues, asking in no uncertain terms for the continuation of American sovereignty in these Islands and bitterly attacking the Philippine government, paints in black and white the revolutionary and obdurate character of those fighting personages of Moroland. The history of Moro piracy is replete with incidents of surrender and submission and with friendly treaties and alliances entered into between the petty sovereigns, datus, panglimas and other such persons as claimed authority in that region, and the Spaniards—treaties and alliances which were violated without delay by the Moros and which were renewed as often as the power of Spain triumphed over the recalcitrant Mohammedans. This same conduct has been followed since the coming of the Americans, which caused the cancellation of the Treaty of Bates and the granting, by the conquerors from across the Pacific, of great concessions to Moro principles, and later the occurrence of bloody fights, such as that at Mount Dajo, at which the unhappy Moro infidels instigated by their chieftains, who never openly show themselves, sustained enormous loss of life and property.

The advent of a government by Filipinos in which the Moros enjoy all the rights and privileges and honors which belong to all nationals, with representation in the Legislature and direct control of local affairs, as also such advantages as are inherent in a civilised and progressive government, as sanitation, public education, and equality before the law, without counting land grants to their datus—was welcomed by the prominent Moros with ostensible satisfaction and pleasure as presaging a new era of peace, progress, and prosperity for the Mohammedan inhabitants of Mindanao and Jolo and other isles occupied by Filipinos in that region. Now, suspecting, without doubt, a reaction in the policy of the American administration, the Moro datus, urged by God knows who, have turned their backs on to the Christian Filipinos, and are going through all the motions of submission and surrender to the common conquerors.

The Independent would not qualify this conduct of the Moro leaders: history will give them their true appellation and their due recompense. We would say, however, that it would appear that it does not suit them to live under a government that enforces equality and in which there can not be practiced the caste regulations that preponderate in Mohammedan territory where every datu may dispose of the life and property of his unhappy subjects, and where fanaticism is made supreme over the inhabitants by the intervention of numberless chiefs and petty henchmen, who live without working and are inveterate gamblers and practitioners of shameful vices.

It is to be supposed that in the solution of the so-called Philippine problem, the American government will not be misled by the opinion of a handful of ignorant and despotic demagogues, and entirely ignore the legitimate and just aspirations of the more than ten millions of civilised and Christian Filipinos. It should also be realised that such Moros as have appeared before the Wood-Forbes Commission asking for an indefinite continuation of American sovereignty do not represent the opinion of their followers and slaves, nor have they at heart the welfare and well-being of the Moros living in the south. The welfare and interest of these Moros and of all the inhabitants of the Philippines should lie in a democratic government under which, as has been said, neither the caste system nor class and religious privileges can exist.

The Moro problem will not be difficult to solve for a Filipino independent government. To dominate the revolutionary tendencies and the hostility of this small but troublesome element would be a labor of force and arm. A few battalions of rural guards will suffice to pacify them, these forces serving also to do pioneer work in constructive government: sanitation, schools, public roads, an administration of justice founded on the principle of equality before the law and the protection of the weak against the abuses of the mighty, be he sultan, high priest or datu. A Philippine government will be in a better position to carry out this plan than any alien power. . . . We shall continue generous colonial experiment started in the Moroland by the Americans themselves and which constitutes a policy of peaceful penetration, using to this end all means which may be fruitful of result, combining military rigor and force with the introduction of the advantages of civilisation.

TUNGSHA SPIT

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: Two valuable ships have had the misfortune of grounding on the Tungsha Spit during the recent typhoon, the Cordillere and the Glaucus.

I am not surprised as I have for a long time expected ships to be caught in the spider's net so cunningly woven in the entrance to the South Channel.

By casting a glance at the chart you will notice that the Tungsha light vessel is carefully sheltered 5 miles inside the point of extreme danger from the Spit, and that two gas buoys are placed outside the light vessel.

These two gas buoys are, in my opinion, a danger to navigation in rough weather when the pilot boat is withdrawn from its station, as they show similar lights and cannot be distinguished from each other. I have from experience seen, that the Shaohsing Wreck buoy can be mistaken for the Fairway Bell buoy, when the light on the bell buoy is extinguished as usually is the case in a heavy seaway. The deepest water is to the north of the Fairway Bell buoy; consequently deep-drafted ships like the Cordillere and Glaucus who apparently mistook the Shaohsing Wreck buoy for the Fairway Bell, which was out, would keep the buoy on their port bow and run on the Tungsha Spit.

Would it not be safer for the shipping if the Tungsha light vessel was placed outside, instead of inside the Tungsha Spit?

Failing this, why not make the Shaohsing Wreck buoy show a Red light so it can be distinguished from Fairway Bell buoy?

I am, etc.,

NEARLY CAUGHT.

Soviet Solving Difficulties

When L. B. Krassin arrived in Stockholm from Finland, on his way to London, he had an opportunity to give an interview to the correspondent of Rosta, which was printed in the Stockholm newspapers; a full report appeared in Folkets Dagblad Politiken (Communist), and Dagens Tidning (Non-partisan), and a partial report appeared in the Liberal newspaper Dagens Nyheter.

"It has long been known that the Soviet Government is on the verge of a downfall, and usually the time for this downfall is set for two or three weeks hence. This situation is now entering its fourth year, and so far no change can be foreseen, i.e., even in the future the correspondents of the bourgeois press and the Russian white newspapers will continue to announce the approaching wreck of the Soviet regime; the Soviet Government, however, having survived many cabinets in capitalist countries, will remain, as heretofore, the most stable and lasting government.

THE CHANGE OF POLICY

"The latest changes in the Soviet policy were conditioned by the ending of the civil war and the necessity of greater adjustments to the needs and interests of the peasants; once again this proves the elasticity of the Soviet system and its ability to adjust itself instantly to the needs of the laboring masses.

"The enemies of the Soviet regime merely predict as a result of these measures the downfall of the Soviets. As we live on, we shall see. We believe that the ability of the Government to consider in its policy the interests of the peasants and to try to meet them, tends to strengthen the entire system, insures a friendly co-operation of the peasantry with the leading proletariat, and solves many economic difficulties, which are natural for a country which emerged from war only three years after all the other countries.

"The workers and peasants of Russia bravely combat poverty and disorganisation, they build and perfect the apparatus of the government in the center as well as in the country at large, an apparatus, which, though far from being perfect, is yet one that has proved to be sufficiently powerful to repulse, with the aid of the Red army, all those who have attempted to re-establish monarchy and again to return the capitalists and landowners to their secure positions.

AGREEMENT WITH ENGLAND

"The Russo-English agreement is above all significant in that for once the Soviet government is considered the most powerful government, the sole government of Russia. Whatever the faults of this agreement, the essential fact cannot be doubted, and its significance is observed in both the relation of Soviet Russia with other countries, as well as in the development of trade and other relations with England. Immediately upon signing the agreement, the British Government lifted all bans on exports to Russia, and now we can purchase from England coal, food products, and machinery.

"The text of the agreement left some doubt so to the freedom of our imports into England, inasmuch as there was danger of a ban being placed on our products by third persons, various owners and capitalists who have objections to Russia. However, the decision arrived at by the court of appeals several days ago eliminates this difficulty also. The court of appeals unanimously acknowledged that after signing the Russo-English agreement claims made to the Russian Government are not under the jurisdiction of English courts. Therefore, all formal obstacles in the way of trade and navigation are virtually at an end.

"The signing of the trade agreement with Germany again strengthens the position of Soviet Russia, and we may, with more or less ease, look forward to the day when the French government too will at last understand that in its own interests it would be advantageous to reject that state of isolation which France has inflicted upon herself."

SOCIAL-DEMOKRATEN'S VIEW

It is curious to note that Branting's Social-Demokraten, which directs all aggressive attacks upon Soviet Russia, has this time made an interesting exception in the case of Krassin.

This newspaper devotes a special article to the interview of Krassin, not in reality the present interview, but a characterisation of himself and his activity. The characterisation, it can be said without exaggeration, resembles a eulogy. The Social-Demokraten, which usually slurs all Soviet workers, this time praises Krassin as perhaps the only one in Soviet Russia who devotes all his energy to intelligent constructive work and to the restoration of Russia's productive forces.

SCENES IN REVAL

Reval (by mail), June 27.—Reval, always one of the chief Russian ports, has regained, thanks to the Revolution, the significance she had in the days of the Hansa League, when Petrograd was nothing but a swamp. On the quays as I write thousands upon thousands of plows, harrows, and other agricultural implements are lying. Here is a traveling crane, there the engines and tenders for a narrow-gauge railway, the engines labeled in huge letters "Communist" and "International," flaunting their names, no doubt, as a sort of propaganda. But who cares? The building of the engines gave work in some country trying hard to keep head above water, and in so far helped her to do so. Manufacturers who, in accordance with their contracts, paint the letters "R.S.F.S.R." on plows or flagrant revolutionary names on locomotives do not grind their teeth as the happy revolutionary imagines, but merely reckon with satisfaction that these orders from the revolutionary world are actually helping to stabilise the disastrously shaken fabric of European industry, and in particular to keep their works running and their men employed. Here in Reval the freight charges on transit goods for Russia practically pay for the Esthonian railroad system. Even so, the amount of goods that go into Russia is only a miserable fraction of the country's enormous needs, and it is disheartening that of that miserable fraction so very small a share is British. But no matter. The mere increase of trade here affects all Europe, and in the long run is good for us, even if in the immediate business we have allowed ourselves to be outdone by nearly everybody.

Sitting here on the green-painted cabin roof of the Kittiwake, watching the sunshine on the ships and flags of many nations, I feel I am looking on at the visible recovery of Europe, or at least at a gallant effort toward recovery, made possible by Esthonia's courageous policy of peace. This, obviously, is the right way. Not one of all these ships is bringing shells or guns. All are bringing things to cure at once the hunger of the East and the unemployment of the West. And, going about their work with flags, they have an air of happiness and business and peace that makes each work-day seem a holiday. And now up with the Kittiwake's pocket-handkerchief of a foresail and out of harbor to see what new ship that is, hooting the cheerful tidings of her arrival in the Reval roads.

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper (Registered Trade Mark)

-:- Staying The Hand Of Change -:-

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

The world has never stood still, although it would always have been to the interest of every flourishing species of its inhabitants to make it stand still, or at least to allow it to advance only in the direction most pleasing and beneficial to them.

The great beasts of the age of the giant reptiles would now be ruling the planet if they could have stayed the march of evolutionary change. The earth would have remained a globe of mollusks if the oysters and clams, the snails and squids of ancient days had possessed the power to prevent the rise of higher orders of animals pushing them from supremacy in their paradise.

The men of the old stone age would still be painting rude pictures in the light of torches on the inner walls of their gloomy caverns, completely satisfied to live with hyenas and cave bears, and content with their savage selves, if the spirit of progression had not been inborn and ineradicable in all nature. For along with that spirit goes an instinctive dread of change.

The average thought of every man and every race is: "Things are good as they are—let them alone," But this, of course, does not apply to any change for the better affecting the particular person or particular race concerned. It is the pure essence of selfishness, and selfishness is compact of fears and starts at every unwonted sound and movement.

These reflections are suggested by the growing movement in scientific circles for the conservation of wild forms of life that existing conditions tend to drive into extinction. I have before me a paper by Dr. F. B. Sumner, of La Jolla, Cal., on "the responsibility of the biologist in the matter of preserving natural conditions." Dr. Sumner remarks that it is obvious "that both our native fauna" (animals) "and flora" (plants) "and our natural scenery are disappearing at an appalling rate."

"Appalling" will seem a strong word to most readers, but there is no doubt that it expresses the impression of many naturalists when they perceive how fast many of the organisms that they want to observe and study at first hand are vanishing. They want to keep them alive because they are not satisfied with second-hand acquaintance with them.

They are not content with the observations and experiments of their predecessors, but they want to see and experiment for themselves. They would have everything present and nothing past—no room or subject for history. If this could be broadly successful evolution would be arrested. The conservationists call for the setting aside in some cases of great tracts, to be made into huge asylums and "cities of refuge" for various kinds of animals and plants that modern conditions and the march of change are hunting out of existence. But such places would, after all, be only menageries and botanic gardens giantised, grown beyond all reasonable size, and confessedly using space that may be needed for more pressing purposes of humanity.

For Dr. Sumner, in calling for national organisations to forward the conservation movement, dwells with disapproval upon the "resistless pressure of increasing population everywhere"—meaning human population—and remarks: "For all we know this unbridled growth of population may be halted before the world is utterly congested, and while there are still large areas in a more or less primitive condition."

To maintain these areas in "primitive condition" is the object of the movement. If its promoters would be content with modest results probably the plan could be carried into effect on a small scale, here and there, but when they talk of a great administrative enterprise, with State and national government control and heavy expenses for maintenance, the confessed object of which is, through "the preservation of large fractions of our fauna and flora and landscape in their natural condition," to hold back change—when we hear that, the fact with which we began looms up again, viz: that the world never has stood still, and cannot, because the march of evolution is the heartbeat of planetary life.

Our national parks are good things, and they ought to be maintained, but we are pretty well provided with them now. The human animal, too, is a very interesting creature, capable of high achievement and noble enjoyment, promising enormous development, prolific, needing more and more room for itself and its means of life, and perhaps quite reasonably indisposed to bow to the suggestion that its "unbridled" multiplication should be arrested to favor the preservation of fading species of lower creatures no longer in good adjustment with their environment.

Nobody loves nature more than I do; nobody more detests the unnecessary destruction of life or the defacement of natural beauties and wonders; but there should be measure in all things, and "the will of God" must, in the end, be done.

TEXACO MOTOR OILS
—SAVE { POWER / THE ENGINE / EXPENSE

There are four grades of Texaco Motor Oil; light, medium, heavy and extra heavy—a grade to suit your every requirement, no matter what kind of car you drive.

Texaco Motor Oil assures maximum power because it holds the "seal" between piston rings and cylinder walls. That is where fuel leakage occurs when the lubricant does not possess body to function properly.

Texaco Motor Oils are composed of the best American Crudes, refined according to most scientific methods, and each tin is tested before it leaves the refinery. Use of it affords free lubrication to all moving parts of the motor, more power, high compression, and less carbon. The little carbon which does remain is never hard and flinty, but soft and fluffy like soot.

Texaco Motor Oil is a quality product, each drop is the same—maximum lubrication value, minimum waste.

Siccawei Weather Reports

28.—The typhoon is rapidly replaced in Japan by the high pressures of the anticyclone which covers now, with the Bonin, all the map to the N. of the 32 parallel. A period of an early autumnal monsoon is established consequently along the coast, to the N. of the Formosa Strait. The day is overcast and damp at most places, with occasional showers in the evening.

29.—Little rain during the night; weather threatening and damp. Moderate easterly breezes; the pressure is still rising above the average. Later on the wind inclines to E.S.E.
